DISSOLUTION PROPOSED.

VERSAILLES, August 23.—Gambetta proposes a dissolution of the Republican Union Deputies to the Assembly on the first of May next.

THE COURT MARTIALS.

Evidence given before the court martial establishes the fact that Federals disguised as firemen fed the flames in Paris with petroleum. M. Callett, a prison director under the Commune, deposed that he received Favre's order to shoot the hostages under his charge and that he declined to comply therewith.

NEW TAXES.

VERSAILLES, August 22.—The Assembly to-day approved new additional taxes, and decided to proceed to the immediate discussion of the question of disarmament of the National Guards.

CHOLERA PREVENTION.

PROLONGATION OF THIERS' POWERS.

It is reported that Revet, not Marc Girarden, will be the reporter on the Committee of prolongation of Thiers' powers.

COURT MARTIAL TRIALS.

VERSAILLES, August 23.—In the court martial to-day argument for the prosecution was concluded and counsel for the prisoners commenced to sum up. The accused, Ferre, attempted to read a printed defence, in which he declares that he looks to the future rehabilitation of France for vengeance. He was called to order by the court and not permitted to proceed.

PARIS, August 10, By Mail.—The evidence given yesterday before the court martial at Versailles was of a most terrible description. Dr. Puymoyn testified that the Commune on the 24th of May formed a King's Court Martial at La Petete Roquette. He saw a man condemned to death in five minutes by some young wretches about seven or eight years of age, who gave themselves airs of the greatest importance. A soldier was tried for the crime of not joining the Commune. His hands were bound behind his back and he was tortured in the most inhuman manner. "Kneel," shouted the chief of these assassins, and the soldier knelt down, "Get up," and he rose. He was then made to kneel again, a handkerchief was tied over his eyes and then readjusted, and finally the poor lad was shot and his body tossed into a vegetable cart amid shouts and laughter. Four other persons were massacred in a similar manner. Among them was Monsigneur Surat, who had managed to escape from the prison, but who was caught by some of the juvenile offenders at the barricade and brought back, a woman demanded the honor of killing him, and she set on the unfortunate prelate with a poignard, striking at his face, but the Bishop kept her off with his hands. At last, losing patience and jeered by the crowd, this fury drew a revolver and shot down her victim.

RIOTING.

LONDON, August 23.—The disturbances at Newcastle-on-Tyne continue, and the authorities contemplate calling out the militia to effect a restoration of order.

THE BALLOT BILL.

NEW YORK, August 23.—London papers just received give the proceedings of the British Parliament on the ballot bill discussion. In advocating the passage of the bill in the House of Lords on the 10th inst., Lord Ripon spoke of the election in the District of Columbia, which he witnessed while in this country, and said that though the contest was one of race, white versus black, yet the election was conducted with the utmost tranquility. This, he added, was evidence that the ballot conduces in a remarkable degree to tranquility, simplicity and order in elections.

The Duke of Somerset, in debating the measure, said the government was in difficulty and wanted a rallying cry. All the measures had broken down. It was the most unlucky government that ever was. What a mess they had made of it in the park here and the park in Ireland! Their army could not march and their ships could not swim. The government did not much care whether the bill was passed or not. It would answer their purpose either way.

AMERICAN RAILROAD BONDS.

NEW YORK, August 23.—A correspondent of the Herald, writing from Frankfort on the Main, under date of August 10th, says: The financial world has been much scandalized by the non payment of overdue coupons of Rockford, Rock Island and St. Louis Railroad. Several millions of bonds, according to some statements upwards of nine millions, have been placed here through the agency of Morris J. Budge. At a meeting held here on the 8th inst., several resolutions were passed for the purpose of concerting measures calculated to protect the interests of the unfortunate bondholders.

In the course of a discussion it transpired that information conveyed by H. V. Poor's Manual of Railroads in the United States, led investers to believe that a large amount of authorized capital had been used in its purchase of land. No less than two millions, it had been asserted, had thus been invested. While now, on investigating it, it appears that the amount does not exceed $60,000. Bonds to the amount of between one and two million dollars were placed there this week of the Illinois, Springfield and Southeastern road at seventy-five or seventy-five and a half, and another million of the Chicago and Southeastern road found purchasers also. The discrepancy is accounted for by the act of the management, the bonds having been in the hand of Baron Ereanger, who placed them in the market through the agency of the Austrian Bank, which probably blundered somewhat in the matter.

RUSSIA.

THE CHOLERA.

NEW YORK, August 23.—Late foreign papers contain accounts of the cholera in Russia, in which it appears that there is a heavy mortality from the disease in that country in proportion to the population. In St. Petersburg, from the first appearance of the cholera on the 29th of August, 1870, there have been 6,817 cases and 2,791 deaths. In Moscow and its environs the epidemic is of a very malignant character, and in some regions ravages where medical assistance is difficult to obtain. It has committed fearful ravages. The following is a report from Moscow of the 1st inst: Cases remaining, 523; new cases, 69; deaths, 33. Since the 13th of March there have been 3,568 cases in Moscow and 1,643 deaths. The cholera has appeared in several parts of the government of Vladimin, but the proportion of fatal cases is small. At Cronstadt, up to the 29th of July, there were 439 cases and 211 deaths. At Riga there were 109 cases in two days. At Wilna, up to the 11th of July, there had been 1,136 cases and 512 deaths. At Tambaff, a town of about 30,000 inhabitants, 2,504 cases are reported up to the 21st of July and 1,242 deaths. At Rybinsk, a very important corn depot on the Volga, more than half of the cases proved fatal. Many inhabitants were leaving the country where the disease was most prevalent, but in some sections the accounts are more favorable.

GREAT SCULL RACE.

Championship of the World.

GLOOMY TERMINATION.

Death of Renforth.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. JOHNS, N. B., August 23, 1871.

The great scull race for the championship came off this morning. The boats started at 7:25; led together for five minutes. At 7:33 the St. Johns was ahead; at 7:40 the St. Johns was the only crew rowing, the Tyne having gone to the shore in consequence of Renforth having taken a fit. The St. Johns rowed over the course, and are the winners, in forty minutes and eleven seconds. Renforth, the champion of England, died at 8:48.

A special dispatch to the Pittsburgh Evening Chronicle says; A gloomy termination must be chronicled to the great race of to-day for the championship of the world. Although pink ribbons are displayed everywhere, the British flag is at half-mast, and presents a mournful contrast to the joy and gladness so generally observable but a short time previous to this writing. Poor Renforth is no more! The noblest oarsman of the two crews has succumbed, in his manly endeavor to bring his own crew in the victor, and he now lies stiff and cold, and all around him is mourning and sorrow at his untimely end. Both crews were in position promptly at the time appointed, viz., 7:15 o'clock, and eleven minutes afterward the word was given to go. The St. Johns crew had the position nearest the judge's boat, and took the water first with a stroke of forty two to the minute. For a while they kept in advance, steadily gaining until they reached the distance of the first mile, when they were three boat lengths ahead. Just about this time Renforth, who, it had been observed, was wavering in his stroke, was seen to give over his seat and immediately afterward fall back in the bottom of the boat. It was apparent to all that something of an unusual character had happened, and this evidence was fully confirmed when the Tyne men were observed pulling quickly for the shore. This they did, and as they touched land, they were seen to lift tenderly out their disabled companion, and carrying him tenderly to a house near by. Everything that could be done under the circumstances was done to revive the unfortunate but gallant oarsman, yet all efforts were in vain. He expired half an hour after he was taken into the house, surrounded by his grief stricken companions. The greatest excitement prevailed. The Paris crew continued to pull over the course, finishing the race in thirty-nine minutes and twenty-three seconds. Wide spread sympathy is manifested at the untimely and irreparable loss which the Tyne crew have sustained in the death of poor Renforth, and the applause of the thousands of spectators which, under other circumstances, would have been deafening at the victory of their favorites, was tempered with sorrow at the calamity that dampened the ardor of the lookers on and participants in what promised to be one of the closest and finest races that has ever taken place in the annals of boating.

ST. JOHNS, August 23.—The great boat race for the championship of the world came of this morning. The boats started at 7:25, and led alternately for five minutes. At 7:23 the St. Johns was ahead, and at 7:40 the St. Johns was the only crew rowing, the Tyne crew having gone to the shore in consequence of Renforth being taken with a fit. The St. Johns crew rowed over the course, winners of the race in forty minutes and eleven seconds. Renforth died in an hour after the race.

The morning was clear and bright; the water smooth, throngs of spectators were gathered on the shore and on the steamers and small boats. The St. Johns' boat crew arrived first at the judges' boat, and awaited the arrival of the Tyne crew, who came at 7:15, dressed in white shirts and blue caps. Both crews were stripped, and at 7:25 flew away, the St. Johns leading slightly. The Tyne crew then made a spurt and the St. Johns fell behind. But the steady stroke of the St. Johns told, and gradually they drew ahead, keeping the lead, although the distance was shortened from the spurts of the Tyne. When three quarters of a mile was reached the St. Johns lead three lengths, when Renforth suddenly dropped his oar, and fell over in the boat, apparently in an apoplectic fit. The boat was then taken to the shore and Renforth removed to his quarters. The St. Johns quietly pulled over the course in about forty minutes. The betting had had been quite free, two to one on the Tyne, chiefly among the Canadians and Pittsburgh men. Renforth died at 8:48. His death has caused a feeling of profound regret.

After Renforth was brought ashore his recovery was but temporary, and he had not been in the Claremount House twenty minutes when he died. It is admitted now that the race was fairly lost to the Tyne crew before Renforth was attacked. They reached the turning stake in eighteen minutes, and made the entire race in thirty-nine minutes.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Political.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 23.—The division of the Republicans on the local offices and legislative tickets is caused, as is alleged, by the meddling of George C. Gorham. At a mass meeting of dissatisfied Republicans this evening they repudiated the legislative and municipal nominations and appointed a committee to nominate new tickets. After the meeting an affray occurred between Frank Pickley and A. J. Bryant, who participated in the meeting, and Billy Carr and W. W. Stow, friends of Gorham, in which a pistol and knife were drawn, but no one was injured.

Revenue Stamps.

CINCINNATI, August 23.—Supervisor of Internal Revenue Cowan of the Southern District of Ohio has directions from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to regard stamps not canceled where the date of cancellation and the name of the cancellor are not legibly written on the stamp; also that opened packages of tobacco where stamps are obliterated are liable to seizure until the proprietor can prove that the tax has been paid.

WISCONSIN.

Democratic Convention.

MADISON, August 23.—The Democratic Convention met to-day. One hundred and fifty-four delegates were present out of two hundred to make a full convention. H. Palmer, of Milwaukee, presided. The following resolutions were adopted:

The representations of the Democratic party in Wisconsin, in State convention assembled, hereby affirm,

First. That we point with pride to the economical administration of the estimated amount of taxation that prevailed in the State under Democratic rule, as contracted with the enormous body of taxation and profligate expenditures of the succeeding Republican State administrations, and that the Democratic party, if restored to power, will observe economy, retrenchment and reform in every department of the State Government.

Second. That there were restrictions enacted in the Tenth Amendment to the National Convention, reserving to the States respectively and to the people all powers not delegated to the United States as one of the strongest safe-guards of popular freedom; that the acts of Congress and of the Federal administrations in usurping powers not delegated and constitutional, and breaking down the distinctions between the powers of State Governments, and those of the General Government, are destruction to constitutional liberty, and threaten the overthrow of our existing form of local government and Federal Government; and tend to the establishment of a permanent centralized despotism in Congress and the National Executive, and that we denounce as a vicious offshoot of the centralizing tendencies of the General Government the frequent attempts of the agents of the Federal Administration to interfere in local political affairs.

Third. That we are in favor of a tariff for revenue; that under the pretext of raising a revenue within the past ten years, the National Congress has established and continues that enormous robbing of the masses for the enrichment of the few, known as the Protective Tariff System, which has swept our commerce from the seas and fettered and oppressed every agricultural pursuit, a system of which the conventions of the Republican party have equivocally and haltingly spoken in their platforms, but which that party perpetuates in Congress, and from which the people may hope for no relief but by the restoration of Democratic rule.

Fourth. That by the corruption and profligacy of the present administration, they have squandered large portions of the national domain and enormous sums from the national Treasury; that it is no answer to this complaint; that they have some proportion of the national debt, of a wise and economical use of the immense revenue which all unprecedented taxation has risen, a much greater reduction on the debt would have been accomplished, but the Democratic party opposes oppressive taxation for the mere sake of speedy payment of the debt, believing that by wisdom and economy in the adjustment of taxes and economy in the expenditure, the national debt may be paid with sufficient rapidity, with but a slight burden upon the industry and resources of the people, and that we are opposed to all forms of national repudiation, either of the debt, or the pensions and bounties of the soldiers.

Fifth. That as the late amendments to the Constitution have been declared by the properly constituted authority to be a point of the fundamental law of the land, they are binding upon the people that the Democratic party now, as in the past, know no higher law than the Constitution; that the time-honored principle of strict Constitution, applied by its framers and accepted by the wisest statesmen and jurists of the country, should be observed in all legislation by Congress relative to the Constitution and its amendments; that the Democratic party is opposed to the withdrawal of civil and political rights from any class of the people, and that we demand the removal of all political qualifications.

Sixth. That the qualifications err; that the defalcations, embezzlements and corruptions of the National Administration and prostitution of legislation to the demands of unscrupulous lobbyists and greedy monopolists are a national scandal and disgrace, the most dangerous blow to the public credit, and an intolerable outrage upon the tax payers of the country.

Seventh. That as the representatives of a constitution of a living and law abiding party, we deprecate and denounce every outbreak of lawlessness and violence, whether committed at the North or South, and that the acts of Congress which authorize the employment of the standing army to garrison a place where elections are to be held and to constitute a local police in the States, and which empower the officers of the federal administration to interpose military force for the purpose of overawing political conventions of the people, are subversive of a free government and a perpetual menace to public liberty.

Eighth. That while the people of this country hope they may extend the blessings of our form of government over the entire continent, the course pursued by the national administration in its efforts to annex San Domingo was an unjustifiable usurpation and wicked attempt to lay hold of the faith of this people in their high destiny, and were unworthy as the purposes of personal gain.

Ninth. That while it is a State duty to foster all proper public improvements of the rivers within our borders, the character of the improvements begun and projected on the Fox and Wisconsin rivers and the benefits to be derived therefrom are such that it is a matter of national concern, which should persistently be pressed upon the attention of the General Government.

WHEREAS, Believing that no past habits of association and partisan affection should prevent the citizens of a free country from co-operating together for the success of the principles that are necessary for the public safety and vital to the cause of good government; therefore,

Resolved, That we commend the principles herein announced to the calm and candid judgment of the people of all parties in the State, and we submit in their behalf, and for the candidates now upon this platform, the support and suffrage of all our honest and patriotic fellow citizens.

J. S. Doolittle was nominated for Governor by one hundered and twenty-three out of one hundred and fifty-four votes. He accepted in a carefully prepared speech, hoping he might do something to save constitutional liberty and Republican institutions in substance as well as name. He briefly reviewed the history of the country since the repeal of the Missouri compromise, and the war, the emancipation proclamation, and the Thirteenth Amendment abolishing slavery, which he fully endorsed. He claimed that Lincoln and Johnson sought the reconstruction and the preservation of the rights of States, but spirits of evil were unloosened, and disregarding oaths and pledges, and the constitution, the Radicals forced a plan of reconstruction outside the Constitution by military despotism and gross usurpation. The Supreme Court was reconstructed so as to not interfere with the revolutionary doings and cruel oppression of the late insurrectionary States. He regarded the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments as unfairly adopted, but there were only three possible ways of upsetting them; one, by a decision of the Supreme Court that they were unconstitutional; adopting a new amendment wiping them out—both which he regarded as impracticable—by the use of the military to control the elections, which would be repugnant to the Democrats. Negro freedom and suffrage were accomplished facts, and could not be undone, nor did he believe the Democrats desire to do so by a general amnesty so as to restore character and intelligence in Southern affairs, which was the remedy demanded. The greatest issue of the day was the restoration of the government to a basis of our fathers against the radicel dogma, that States had no rights the federal authority was bound to respect. He closed with an earnest appeal to all lovers of the country to dismiss buried issues and rally to the salvation of Republican institutions.

John A. Rice, of Waukesha county, was nominated Lieutenant Governor; Milton Montgomery, Secretary of State; Orton Klaus, Treasurer; Edward S. Bragg, Attorney General; T. E Johnson, State Prison Commissioner; N. D. Parker, Superintendent of Public Institutions, and Jacob Boden, Commissioner of Immigration.

—Between sixty and seventy prominent gentlemen from different parts of Massachusetts held a meeting at Boston yesterday and appointed a committee to take measures to bring Jewell's name before the Republican convention for Governor

The Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, August 23, 1871.

ARMY SUPPLIES.

The War Department has issued an order instructing army officers that in advertising for contracts for supplies of animals or forage for military posts, the conditions of competition should be always such as to open to settlers, farmers and stock raisers near the point of delivery and consumption of the supplies needed an opportunity of selling their products directly to the United States in such quantities as may be convenient and advantageous to both parties.

THE WEATHER.

The area of highest pressure extends from South Carolina to Maine, but the barometer after rising somewhat, is now falling in the middle and Atlantic States, and fog and cloudy weather have continued during the day from Connecticut. The area of low pressure on the coast of Georgia, after causing heavy rains and brisk easterly winds, has very rapidly disappeared. Cloudy and threatening weather is reported from Northern Florida, with southerly winds. The barometer has fallen during the day from the Lower Lakes to Lake Superior, after having risen considerably during the night. Cloudiness has increased from Michigan to New York, and local storms are reported from Michigan to Missouri.

Probabilities.—Barometer will probably continue to fall with light rain to-night on Lakes Erie, Ontario, and Huron. Clear weather will probably continue on Thursday from Michigan to Louisiana and westward. The bar will probably continue to fall in New England, with partially cloudy weather. Partially cloudy and clear weather with fresh winds are probable for the middle and southern Atlantic states.

TEA TRADE.

The official report concerning the tea trade from the United States consul at Amoy, China, says the market opened on twenty-third of December in Amoy and the crop of 1871–72 of Oolong is fully up to that of last season in quality and is not likely to fall short in quantity. The market for United States opened at prices certainly one fourth above the opening rates of last year and in three days the purchases amounted to ten thousand packages above actual arrivals, part of the crop only in many cases having come down from the country. The prices are so irregular that it is difficult to give the exact quotations. Teas grading from fine upward are eagerly bought as they arrive.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

Governor Potts, of Montana, writes under date of August 12th that the people of Gallatin Valley are so frightened at the presence of large bodies of Sioux Indians that he fears they will abandon the crops and flee to places of safety. He says the movements of the Sioux point to a general Indian war on the settlements. He is organizing the settlers and arming them. The greatest need is more troops, and the Governor hopes General Sherman will send them the Second United States Cavalry.

FUNDING INCOME TAXES.

R. W. Taylor, First Comptroller of the Treasury, has addressed a letter to the Internal Revenue Commissioner, announcing that upon consultation with the Secretary, it has been decided not take any final action in relation to refunding income taxes paid by State officers at present.

THE NEW LOANS.

The recent heavy demand for new five per cent. bonds has developed a great increase in the call for bonds of the denominations of fifty and one hundred, which is understood to be due to investments in these securities by the working classes.

REVENUE RULING SUSPENDED.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has suspended for the present the enforcement of the ruling of the late Commissioner Pleasanton relating to original and unbroken packages of perfumery.

ST. LOUIS.

Fire.

ST. LOUIS, August 23.—At a late hour last night a fire broke out in the stable of Martin Dolder, in the rear of No. 3115 Carondolet avenue, in the lower part of the city, and spread to the adjoining houses, destroying in a short time seven small two-story brick and several small frame houses. Several of these buildings were occupied as small stores as well as dwellings. The principal losers are Mr. Wodiski, $6,000, insured for $5,000 in the St. Louis Mutual; Martin Dolder, $14,000; Valentine Bessel, $6,000; M. Leopold, $4,000. Most of the contents of the buildings was consumed, which will make the total loss in the neighborhood of $40,000.

LINCOLN MONUMENT.

A dispatch from Springfield, Illinois, says that the Board of Managers of the Lincoln Monument Association held a meeting yesterday and heard the report of Governor Oglesby and D. L. Phillips, who had been to Chickopee, Mass., to examine the statue of Mr. Lincoln, which is being cut there. They pronounce the resemblance of the statue to Mr. Lincoln as very good. They also incidentally looked after the prospect of raising enough funds to purchase the four groups of statuary which are yet needed to complete the original design of the monument. They have made a fair start in that direction.

PETITION FILED.

Judge Buckner, of St. Charles, Mo, in behalf of Randolph, Andrian, Montgomery, Warren, and St. Charles counties, has filed a petition in the Circuit Court asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the North Missouri Railroad, but not praying for an injunction to restrain the working of that road.

FATAL RUNAWAY.

A team of horses attached to a wagon loaded with empty barrels, took fright and ran away, throwing the driver off the wagon. The wagon passed over his neck, killing him instantly. The horses subsequently ran across the ferry wharf-boat, jumped into the river and were drowned.

FALSE PRETENCES.

James Spindell has been arrested here on a charge of obtaining several thousand dollars worth of goods on false pretences from the citizens of Pana, Illinois.

DEATH BY MORPHINE.

Joseph P. Baily, a medical student, died yesterday from an over dose of morphine mixed with quinine, which he had taken to stop the chills.

"TIRED OF LIFE."

Miss Ella, daughter of Col. Daly, of Torrance, Mississippi, succeeded, with the assistance of laudanum, in "shaking off this mortal coil," and gone to that land from which no traveler has ever returned, on Monday night, after having retired from a party given in honor of her graduation. She left a note for her mother saying that she was tired of life.

NEW YORK, August 23, 1871.

POLITICAL TROUBLES.

The Times and Tribune are still discussing the movements of the Republican factions, the Tribune correcting what the Times asserts, and the Times declaring that the Tribune seeks to avoid the Times' charges by a mixture of denial and accusation. The Union Republican General Committee, of which Mr. Greeley is the chairman, is charged with aiming at a division among the Republicans of the city, by reason of its refusal to co-operate with the organization known as the Custom House party, and out of the delimna caused by these two organizations, Mr. Greeley believes the safest and easiest way is for the Republicans under the Union Republican General Committee, to defeat the Murphy circulars, as they had been before defeated. As it now stands, the State Convention will have to decide between rival parties. Mayor Hall says he will send a statement of the city accounts and debts to the Board of Alderman, and the county accounts and debts to the Board of Supervisors to-day, and that the statements will be accompanied by a message of recommendation.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Special meetings of the Board of Supervisers and Common Council were separately held to-day to receive the city accounts and the other county accounts. These were huge, beginning January 1st, 1869, and ending July 1st, 1871. Long messages from the Mayor accompanied each budget. The accounts are made up in chronological order, describing each warrant issued, the amount, the payes, and the subject matter. The Mayor sent also valuations of the city and county real estate, made by three sworn appraisers. The valuation is within a fraction of two hundred and forty-four millions. The Mayor officially says that most of the bonds of other cities are issued entirely on the municipal credit, and claims New York's great value of property as collateral, unexampled in the history of cities. He asks from each board a select committee to more particulary investigate vouchers behind these accounts, and require these commissioners to permit all unpartizan citizens to join in the examination. He quotes every statute of 1870, which he claims, made it a ministerial and compulsory duty for the authorities to pay the enormous claims of years standing of ten millions, begun and made under the old metropolitan city departments, and abolished the board of supervisors so as to allow the new government to begin unhampered. He claims a distinct understanding with the Legislature, with the men of both parties, to provide for these claims, and says unless they had been provided for, the new improved city government could not have been legislatively inaugurated. The partizans of the present city government claim that the accounts so submitted, so far as they relate to the new regime, cannot be subjected to criticisms made so pointedly on the past. Recorder Hackett, Supervisor Jerome, a banker, and Supervisor Schlichting, a German merchant, were appointed an official committee to act with the committee of citizens. The Mayor's message is regarded as candid, but officially bold and politically defiant. The accounts are partly printed and partly in manuscript, and make enormous budgets. When fully printed they will make several volumes of a thousand pages each. The reason assigned by the Mayor for the delay is that since the tables accompanied the message, two months ago, the public demand for the utmost minuteness compelled a mass of the tables to be replaced by this succinct and chronological history.

ITALIAN CONVENTION.

The convention of delegates of the United Society of the Italian Brotherhood of America opened to-day at Cooper Institute. The following were present: G. F. Seceshi and De Casali, of New York; Peter Gandolfo, of Cincinnati; A. B. Longinotti, of Louisville; J. A. Signaigo, of Memphis; A. P. Ghio, of St. Louis; A. Baratta, of Richmond; A. Bravi, of Richmond; A. Lagomarsino, of Philadelphia; B. Constantine, of Baltimore; A. Zerra, of Chicago; L. Arnaldi, of St. Louis; F. Gitti, of Boston. G. F. Seceshi de Casali, of New York, who was President of the Chicago Convention two years ago, and has represented New York twice in succession, was, by unanimous consent, chosen President, Peter Gandolfo as Vice President, A. B. Longenetti as Treasurer and A. Sagomar Sino as Secretary. The examination of the credentials of delegates, examination into the case of the St. Louis Society, which has, as is alleged, violated some of the rules of the brotherhood, and the admission into the union of the Italian Benevolent Society of Baltimore, formed the chief business transacted at the first session.

EJECTMENT SUIT.

An ejectment suit was commenced today on behalf of the city against George Jones & Co., the alleged owners of the Times building plot, which is claimed as city property. It is said the ground was given by the city in 1765 to a number of Presbyterian gentlemen, who built the old brick church thereon, the condition of the conveyance being that it should be devoted forever to religious uses and to the purposes of a cemetery, and revert to the corporation in case of its not being used for these purposes. The Board of Aldermen will pass a resolution calling upon the city authorities to carry on the suit to recover the property, which is valued at one million dollars. It is said on the other hand, that the ground was purchased by the original proprietor of the Times directly from the trustees of the old brick church; that the reversion was at the same time purchased from the city authorities, and that the full consent of the latter, as well as the State Legislature, to the transfer was obtained.

COURT HOUSE CLAIMS.

The decision of Judge Sutherland, compelling the payment of the $65,000 claim of James Cornell, for work done on the new court house, will probably result in the presentation of various claims of like character, and the city papers thinks that in addition to extraordinary bill is for work not done, which have been paid out of funds raised for the completion of the court house, there will be several layers of liens put on the structure for work which has been done but not paid for.

ARKANSAS.

Brutal Outrage.

LITTLE ROCK, August 23.—On Monday of last week a brutal outrage was committed on the person of a white girl aged thirteen, near Wittsburg, Cross county, named Sanders. The father was absent in the woods splitting rails. At noon Mrs. Sanders, with her two sons, took the dinner of her husband to him, leaving the little girl at home. After taking the dinner, Mrs. Sanders remained at the house of a neighbor during the afternoon, sending one of the boys back home to remain with the sister, leaving the other with his father. On arriving at home the little boy missed his sister, but supposing that she had gone to a neighbor's house near by, thought no more of it. When the parents returned in the evening they were alarmed for their daughter and sent to the neighbor's, but could hear nothing of her. Runners were sent out and numerous neighbors came in, who continued the search during the night. About daylight the body of the girl was found about twenty yards from her home, her throat cut and her person outraged. The knife was still sticking in her throat. After searching for the fiend, a negro man named Harris was arrested, charged with the deed. A temporaay court was organized with twelve jurors, who after hearing the evidence, decided to hang the negro. Better counsel prevailed, however, and it was agreed that he should have a fair trial. Next day he was taken before a Magistrate, and the proof of his guilt was overwhelming. About five o'clock in the evening the court adjourned over to the next day, and the Sheriff started to jail with his prisoner. As he did so, a crowd of about two hundred persons, white and black, rushed forward, took the negro from the officers, carried him to the spot where the deed was committed, and there hung him to a tree. The people generally regret the necessity for the act, but all join in agreeing that it was just.

ITHICA, N. Y.

Destructive Fire.

ITHICA, August 23.—A terrible conflagration occurred in this city last night. The fire originated in the works of Timothy Hullister, on Aurora street, at half past eleven o'clock, and spread north and west, sweeping a large area of buildings, when it was got under control. A row of stone and brick buildings on Aurora street to the Ithica Hotel were destroyed. Green street for half a block was burned on both sides; also all the buildings on South Tioga street, except those on the corner of State street. The Ithica Hotel caught fire from the flames leaping from the hotel barns. From the hotel the fire continued down Kate street to the store of Culver & Bates, where its progress was stayed. A steamer was telegraphed for at Oswego, which arrived in time to prevent the destruction of a row of new four story brick buildings. The entire destruction of property is estimated at $100,000. Most of the prominent losses are covered with insurance. Ithica Hotel, Colonel W. H. Welch & Son proprietors, loss $30,000, insured for $18,000; Moore, Watkins & Martindale, carriage manufacturers, loss $15,000, insured for $3,500; E. S. Estry, tannery and tanbark, loss on bark $3,000, insured for $1,750; currying shop and contents, loss $6,000, insured for $3,500; tannery and stock, loss $30,000, insured for $6,000; Culver & Bates, dry goods, &c., damage to store and warehouse $23,000, covered by insurance; Heggie & Hayt, saddlery and coach hardware, loss on stock and building $25,000, insured for $13,000.

FORT WAYNE.

Twelve Buildings Burned.

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA, August 23.—A fire broke out in the dry goods store of Frash and Bro., at Hartford City, this morning at one o'clock. It spread rapidly, the firemen being unable to get it under their control, and in three hours the entire south side of the Public Square was in ashes. There were twelve buildings burned. Barns & Co.'s loss will reach nearly fifty thousand dollars, with only about thirteen thousand of insurance. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

KENTUCKY.

Great Conflagration.

LEXINGTON, August 23.—A large fire broke out this morning in the block of buildings forming the north side of Broadway, between Main and Short streets, which resulted in the destruction of nearly all of the entire block. The fire was first discovered at a quarter to six o'clock in the morning, in the carpenter shop occupied by Williams & Brother and owned by James Graves. It extended west to Graves' stable, so that when the fire department brought their engines into operation the conflagration had gained such headway that it could not be mastered. In one hour after the first alarm was given sixteen houses were destroyed, including a loss of $100,000, of which $30,000 was covered by insurance. The loss is mainly confined to the building, the stock in the different stores suffering little loss, and that covered by insurance. This second great loss by fire of valuable city property, following so closely upon that of Sunday night last, has demonstrated the insufficiency of the fire engine and hose for the suppression of large conflagrations, and the necessity of adopting some more efficient means for their extinguishment.

DIED.

LOUISVILLE, August 23.—Last Sunday afternoon a German about fifty years of age, passed the Ormsby station, on the Short Line Railroad, eight miles from the city, carrying a carpet-sack and kit of shoemaker's tools, and was not seen or heard of till yesterday afternoon, when he returned without his sack and tools, apparently very drunk. He drank two glasses of water and grew very sick, vomiting, purging, &c. He was taken up and laid in the shade of a tree near the depot, and died in twenty minutes. There is no clue as to his identity or cause of his death, except the above facts, but the coroner's jury returned a verdict that he came to his death by dissipation and exposure.

COMMITTED TO BAIL.

John Bennett, an old and respectable blacksmith of New Albany, Ind., was this afternoon committed to jail in default of $500 bail to answer at the next term of the Circuit Court for taking a letter out of the post office of that city addressed to another man of a similar name, getting a check it contained cashed and using the money. The act was committed some time ago, and when discovered he paid a portion of the money, but being unable to pay the balance, the prosecution was commenced.

THE ELECTION RETURNS.

Official returns from all but one county received at the office of the Secretary of State at Frankfort give Leslie, Democrat, 136,058 votes; Harlan, Republican, 89,078. Leslie's majority, 36,981. Wolf county the only one remaining to be heard from, is reported to give Leslie 388, Harlan 216; making Leslie's majority 37,153. This is doubtless the correct vote.

DROWNED.

Edward Felker, aged about sixteen, went swiming at the head of the canal this evening. Getting beyond his depth, he called out for help, but his companions thinking he could swim and was fooling them, they only laughed at him, and the unfortunate lad sunk and was drowned. The body was recovered two hours after.

FIRE.

There was an incendiary fire at Rockport, Indiana, early this morning, destroying a planing mill attached to Hoening & Killian's furniture factory, with a large amount of lumber; also the livery stable of N. H. Robertson. The loss is estimated at $12,000. No insurance.

THE SCIENTISTS.

The members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science arrived here to-day from Indianapolis, and went on to the Mammoth Cave. They were highly delighted with the trip and the arrangements, scenery, &c.

COLUMBUS.

The Buffenbarger Case.

COLUMBUS, O., August 23.—In the Buffenbarger case to-day the testimony of the coroner failed to bring out anything new. Elijah Peterson, a nephew of Buffenbarger, was examined as to the frequency of Colburn's visits to Mrs. Buffenbarger. He was an uncertain witness in regard to his recollection; he thought Colburn was there perhaps twice a year; on one occasion Buffenbarger said that Colburn was to be there two weeks to write a history of the war; he could not say that Colburn's visits were objectionable to Buffenbarger. On cross-examination he said that he had not yet contributed any money to assist in the prosecution of this case. Mr. Harrison asked him if Doctor Vandeventer had not called his attention to the benefits that would accrue to him if Mrs. Colburn should be hanged or imprisoned in the penitentiary and her children proved to be bastards. He at first replied that he did not recollect any such chat, but finally came to the conclusion that something of the kind had been said.

Mrs. Cephas Paneake, another witness, had been intimate with Mrs. Buffenbarger. Mrs. B. had told her that Colburn had come to see her twice under the impression that she was Buffenbarger's daughter, and that when Colburn found out that she was Buffenbarger's wife, he slipped a card into her hand with words to the fact that he (Colburn) would not marry while she (Mrs. Buffenbarger) was a married woman. On cross-examination the witness said that Mr. and Mrs. Buffenbarger seemed to live very happily together, and she never saw anything to disturb her confidence in Mrs. B.

Two or three livery stable men of Londen were examined as to the frequency of Colburn's visits to Mrs. B. during the life of her first husband, but they did not establish more than two or three visits. It is expected that the testimony for the State will close to-morrow.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112¼.

WE fear very much that the Times and Tribune of New York are working much damage to the Republican party by their petty quarrel over the status of the members of the Union Republican General Committee of that State. The party is certainly not in any way benefited by such ugly fights.

OUR neighbor, the chicken fancier, in a little article yesterday, after giving a description of a new Roman Catholic building, near Philadelphia, says: "This immense building is out of stone." We are sorry to learn this, and hope that our neighbor will at once send on a supply of Posts, sufficient to keep them in heavy work till a fresh supply of stone can be procured.

SOME DEMOCRATIC JOURNALS urge that the nation should be formally christened with a new name on the coming centennial anniversary. Inasmuch as they tried to have a hand in at its funeral, and failed because they could not get its corpse ready, it is natural now that they want either a baptism or some such ceremony, so that in its memory they may forget the previous disappointment.

THE DEATH OF RENFORTH, the celebrated oarsman will cause much sorrow in the sporting world. He was a man of good habits and led a decent life. His sudden death may be regarded as a fresh warning to those who subject themselves to over-training for athletic accomplishments. Professional athletes who are kept in fine muscular trim at all times have a very slight hold on life and never attain a ripe old age.

CAN the P[illegible] Commission and Joe Dilworth. If it had anything fresh to say we should not lose patience, but the oft repeated tale grows stale when it is told about one thousand times. Come, neighbor, repose a little. Give us something fresh, for the weather is too warm to permit the free use of stale things. We suggest that you give us a discourse on the rise, progress and fall of the small pox, just for a change.

IF YOU HAVE a horn, blow it; your neighbor will seldom take the trouble to do it for you. Now, our good Wood street neighbor the pleasant, charitable, forgiving Post has a horn and thus it tooted yesterday on its own account:

"There has only been one paper in Pittsburgh that had the independence to open its columns in behalf of the taxpayers. That paper was THE POST. We challenge the files of the Pittsburgh papers from 1867 to 1871, in proof of this assertion."

Is that not richness? Neighbor, call on Dr. Jackson for that borrowed hat. You deserve to wear it.

IF THE Post ever had any idea of making other than those vague and indefinite charges concerning the City Hall, it seems to have hopelessly abandoned it. It had one or two references to the subject yesterday, but they are merely spiteful, and nothing more, which we suppose is also the way to account for its deliberate misquotation from an article of ours, by which it tells its readers that we said: "It is the name of Schurz which brings on our paroxysms." Whereas we never said we had. Such little things show how weak the cause of the Post is, to make a generally respectable journal descend to daily garbling and deliberate lying in order to sustain it.

A RUMOR has gone out that the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio is insane. We are assured by responsible parties that he is not so. We take it for granted that the contradiction is correct, but at the same time, inasmuch as the worthy McCook is deeply impressed with the idea that he is to be the next Governor of Ohio, we do hold that, in that particular direction his mind is a little off the line. He might as well, and much more reasonably, expect to be the unfortunate recipient of a bolt of lightning as to be Governor of Ohio. At all events the people of Ohio need not trouble themselves as to McCook's insanity, for whether sane or insane he will never sit in the gubernatorial chair.

JACOB STAEMPFLI, who has been appointed by the Swiss government as Commissioner to the Geneva Conference, is one of the most distinguished citizens of our sister republic. He was born in 1818 in the Canton Bern, where his parents were poor country people, unable to give him more than an ordinary school education. He however, went to France, where he supported himself until he learned the language, and afterwards returning to Bern, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1843. At the same time he joined the Radical party in Swiss politics, and also labored as a journalist. In 1846 he was chosen as a member of the State Council, and the next year a member of Parliament, where he at once assumed a prominent position which he steadily maintained until in 1861, when he became President of the Confederation. Since 1865 he has taken but little part in politics.

THE INTERNATIONALS seem to be a society or rather a union of many secret societies, with licentious views. They number, according to the London Times, many millions and they labor in the night time and in secret. At one time we hoped that this gigantic organization was one with peace, liberty and justice, for its objects, but that hope has gone off among the ideas that were and are not. At one time we hoped that the barbarism, brutalities and inhumanities of the Communists in Paris were acts altogether separate from the authority or sanction of the Internationals, but instead of that the executive committee of that society has issued a pamphlet, lauding the brutal deeds of the French and cursing the respectable elements generally for their outcry of abhorrence of those deeds. License is what they want; the overthrow of society is what they aim at. To the workingmen they promise a millenium of preposterous wages and little labor; to the poor and idle they show golden dreams of the division of all property into equal shares; to the masses they shriek of the overthrow of the crowns of Europe, the confiscation of the goods of the rich and the right of the beggar to loll upon the thrones of Emperors and wallow on the fauteuils of Queens. If Poles are to be won, the Russian grievance is made to appear most prominent in the affairs of the society; if it is Irishmen who are to be captured, the society's motto is made to appear to be "Erin go Bragh," surrounded with a verdant atmosphere. In short, some few shrewd, sharp, ambitious and unflinching villains are attempting to make of all the disaffections of Europe, rungs out of which a ladder may be formed by which they shall attain fabulous wealth, boundless power and everlasting infamy. They care not how many lives they sacrifice, they would reach their goal if to do so they would have to swim through an ocean of human gore shed by their own order. They would ravish Europe, burn the world and destroy the universe if they themselves might but build a tower of the bones of their millions of deluded followers on which they might find supremacy and power, above the general ruin. It may be that they will triumph; it is possible that they may conquer the continent on which they have organized and ramified their society; but if they do, the time will be very near at hand when it will become the duty of America to crush them, not in the interests of dethroned monarchs, but because of the irresistable antagonism between order and chaos, because the liberty inherited from Washington must crush or be crushed by such freedom as Karl Marx would give the world if he could.

BREADSTUFFS.

We publish the following extract from the New York World, not because we endorse all that it says, but simply to give one of the many speculations, as to the near and remote future of our markets for breadstuffs. One thing is quite sure, the crops in this country are large, and prices for all farm products have been tending downward. The decline in pork and bacon has been quite fifty per cent. entailing a heavy loss on those who were carrying stocks. Grain and flour have also declined some thirty per cent. which is an enormous falling off. Should the condition of affairs in Europe, cause an advance in American breadstuffs, we shall hail the fact not only as a welcome change for our farmers, but as a curiosity, coming as it would, in the face of an enormous crop, just harvested. However the future will tell:

The course of the markets for flour and wheat during the past few months and their present position are not a little remarkable. From the surrender of Paris to the Germans to the first of August (the commencement of the new crop year) there was a decline in extra State flour in this market from $7@7,15 to $5,20@5,30, or nearly two dollars a barrel; and of spring wheat from $1,60 to $1,25 per bushel. This decline took place in the face of an export demand rarely equalled, and in spite of the support given to the market by a speculative combination of great strength and compactness. The cause of the decline was the fact that [illegible] had been large stocks accumulated, [illegible] Great Britain and on the Continent [illegible]pe, in anticipation that the surrender of Paris would develop a great [illegible] the result of the ravages and waste of war. The attempt to sell encountered difficulties arising from the impoverished state of the people and the unsettled state of credits, to which the irruption of the Commune in Paris largely contributed. These untoward circumstances finally developed into panic, precipitated to some extent by the early harvest and increased yield of American winter wheat. Two weeks ago indications were that our farmers would be compelled to accept very low prices for their wheat. All this is now changed. The circumstances which were relied upon to cause a great demand for our wheat and flour from the Continent begin to assert themselves, just as most holders had abandoned all hope. In the past week ten or a dozen vessels have been chartered to load wheat for French and German ports; the liberal crop of winter wheat which was expected to and did break down the market in advance of the harvest of spring wheat, has been taken up for export in advance of its arrival here; and it would appear by the latest reports from Liverpool that the dealers in England, finding that the wheat which they expected to purchase on their own terms is being absorqed by the Continent, have come forward as free buyers. The advance of twopence to threepence at the beginning of harvest in that country is so extraordinary that some unusual circumstances must have been felt. The visible supply of wheat in the great markets of the world is some forty per cent. smaller than one year ago, and the crop shows no increase anywhere, except of our winter wheat, the whole of which is no very great aggregate.

We may congratulate our farmers, therefore, that they will be able to command good prices for their wheat, for it is probable that never in the history of our commerce have our exports of grain been sogreat as they will be for the crop year just beginning.

OUR NEW POETIC LIGHTS.

For a long time America has seemed to be content with what she had, in the article of poets—the gentle Longfellow, the lively Holmes, the kindly Whittier and the somewhat ponderous Bryant seemed to satisfy our needs and give us a right to claim that a Yankee niche should be reserved in the temple of the Muses. When the war came it cut the ends off our ditches, so that the various streams of life, which were stagnating just a little, gushed ahead and became lively currents. But much poetry did not immediately result from the war. To be sure, it brought us Boker with his spirited ballads and Walt Whitman with his drum taps and leaves of grass; but the first seems to have been but an episode, and as for Whitman, we have to store him away in the granary with the German composer Wagner, as some slight provision for the wants of the future.

But now, suddenly, without preparation or warning, we have four young men held up to our view, before whom we are asked to bow, and recognize them as possessors of the true poetic fire; as recipients of the heavenly gift of genius. This quartette comes before us so suddenly and speaks in such singular language that, after the crowd has shouted "hurrah;" until it is hoarse, we are tempted to regard them a little curiously, and to ask if these are really to be the poets, who are to succeed the genial group of men who have played upon their lyres so acceptably for us, until they have grown gray? We try to peep behind the veil of novelty which screens these new comers; we peer at them curiously; and we make up our minds about them.

First we see Bret Harte, and his sudden and almost unbounded popularity goes for but little towards forming our opinion, for "Shoo Fly" was as popular as the Heathen Chinee, yet we would hesitate before ranking its author with Holmes or its composer with Wallace. We do not, however, mean by this to sneer at Mr. Harte. After close inspection, we find his humor very pleasant, although perhaps too much dependent upon its novelty. All humor must be fresh, but the great humorist must be a perpetual spring, and time only can show how Harte can stand the test. Then his rythm is of the first order, and his ideas are poetical, when not bathetic, though his prose seems to be more poetic than his rhymes. But the secret of his sudden popularity, seems to be his acceptance and idealization of the slang of the period. Now slang is nearly always picturesque, terse and figurative, but it is ephemeral in the highest degree, and Mr. Harte must give us some great poems in standard language, before he can claim to be as good, as a poet, as he certainly is as a writer of tales, and as he possibly is as a humorist.

The success of this first great effort at idealizing slang of course at once brought out a host of imitators, and of this new school John Hay is the most prominent member. For several years he has been writing occasional poems of so ordinary a nature, that they attracted but little or no attention, and then he published "Little Breeches," which is a sort of apotheosis of vulgarity, and at once became famous. In this and what he has written since, which are called his "poems of dialect," there is not one whit more of real poetry than was shown in the very common place verses which he has been writing for years; there is scarcely any of the humor which redeems Bret Harte's poems, which always stop when they get to the verge of coarseness, while Hay plunges deliberately over and seems to delight in dashing about the scum as if it were fresh sea foam. He is the apostle of the doers of a solitary good action. He takes a disgusting reprobate, drenches him with tobacco, fills his mouth with a fine-cut mixture of vulgarity and blasphemy, and then sends him sliding along a single ray of humanity into an eternity of bliss. Decidedly we refuse to believe that Mr. Hay is to be one of posterity's idols. We fail to see any beauty or promise of beauty in his writings. He is sometimes coarse, sometimes common-place, and never anything else.

Mr. Carleton was the next of the quartette to claim attention, and his claims are laid upon a singular basis, a very curious pedestal, indeed, on which to erect the image of a poet. Mark Twain must have known of him when he told how he turned a legal deed of property, into blank verse. Divorce is the new muse who inspires this novel poet. He puts into rhyme the legal immoralities of the States in which he has lived. The first poem which attracted attention to him might be sufficient to constitute him poet laureate of Indiana, but, in our opinion no one capable of writing "Gone with a Handsomer Man," is capable of being a poet. It is a jingle of coarse ideas without beauty or humor. We have seen little enough in any of his verses to admire, but if all the rest had been doubly as good as they are, those would have condemned him. He seems to be altogether destitute of delicacy of feeling or elevation of mind.

Mr. Joaquin Miller is the latest arrival. We are told that he has uncouth manners and that he defies the customs of society. We read that he frequents London drawing rooms in his shirt sleeves, with his coat off. We sigh, and wonder why such people always seem to be turning up some place as representatives of America. We turn to our newspaper again and we find the fragment of a poem by Joaquin Miller and, filled with prejudice, we read it. Astonished at the first perusal, we read it again, there is fire in it, there is blood, there is life. It is different from any thing we have seen, it is not dialect and blasphemy; it is not police courts and legal technicalities, it is real living and breathing humanity, full of stern beauties and eloquent poesy. The poet has kept the red flannel shirts to himself and given his gems to the world. Description and rhyme, metre and rythm and imagination, all are there. We have seen but a few extracts of his poems, but we believe that he is a poet. We believe that he may be a very great poet, and be as eagerly read by the people of the future as ever Walt Whitman can be, but, unlike the latter, only after having charmed the present with his songs.

HARRISBURG CORRESPONDENCE.

HARRISBURG August 23, 1871.

There is still considerable excitement over the alleged embezzlement matter. After hearing different versions, it is difficult to understand where the fault lies, as it certainly does lie somewhere. It will require some time to unravel it, although it seems to resolve itself into a mere question of commission. Mr. Evans is evidently on the safe side in the matter of commission if he shall be permitted to retain in his hands all he holds on this account. I am in favor of red-tape, it is the best safe guard in the conducting of public affairs. In this case I fear it has been wrapped very loosely.

Mr. Evans claims to have collected from the United States $2,910,469,11. He claims credit for $1,304,711,43 direct tax paid to the United States; $606,000,000 advanced by the United States to the State; $708,710,77 paid into the Treasury of the State, and $291,046,91 retained for commissioner's, making a total of $2,910,469,11.

But it is claimed on the other hand, that the six hundred and six thousand were paid into the Treasury six years before Evans was appointed Collector, and the $1,304,711,43 was adjusted by Governor Curtin during his term of office. According to this showing, Evans collected less than a million of dollars, whilst he claims commission on more than two millions and a half.

All the drafts, it is said, except one, were deposited in the Farmers & Mechanics Bank of Philadelphia, and Governor Geary having been notified of the fact that the money was deposited there to the credit of the State, gave checks to the Treasurer for the amount. The last warrant was sent directly to the Governor, and he endorsed it. This is the explanation given of the circumstance that only one warrant was endorsed by him.

I am informed that the Governor gave instructions on the tenth instant to the Attorney General to make a thorough and searching investigation of the whole subject, and take such measures as will protect the State. This would indicate that the Governor is apprehensive that there is something that needs adjustment, although it may be only the question as to commission on the whole or part of the money paid by Uncle Sam, some of which could scarcely be classed under the head of collections, as it was not collected at all, but was merely "adjusted," or accounted for in the transactions between the United States and the State. The Governor, it is said, is determined that the whole matter shall be investigated judicially legislatively, and in every other possible way. And there are some who have no hesitation in saying that there will be "revelations" made. What they will be, remains to be seen.

Hon. R. W. Mackey, our able State Treasurer, is here attending to his duties, and is in good health, but I have not seen him.

Democratic Arguments Triumphant.

The account which Hibler gives of the killing of young Alexander, at a hotel door in Paris, Ky., on the evening of election day, shows that the murder was done in a peculiarly cool and atrocious manner, even for that State. It will be remembered that Hibler was asked to move his chair as Alexander came out of the hotel, that he refused, and high words ensued. Hibler's account continues: "He then exclaimed, 'If you can't take a joke, step your steps,' and began to back from me, placing his hand on his hip. I arose instantly and said, 'If that's your game, I'm your man.' We fired nearly simultaneously, he a little the quicker. We were about ten feet apart. I hit him in the right shoulder, and do not think he was able to use that arm afterward. As I was standing in the light which came through the hotel door, I moved toward the wall of the building in order to get in the shade, and fired the second time. The smoke was so dense I could not see him fairly, and I missed, the ball striking two or three hundred feet up the street, as I was afterward told. I moved still further in and up the pavement, and dropped on my knees to obtain sight of him under the smoke as it lifted, and to bring him between me and the gas-light on the opposite side of the street. I got chance for a deliberate aim at a couple of yards' distance, and shot him squarely in the breast, which was the fatal wound. I then rose and fired a fourth time, striking him in the thigh. This exhausted my shots. I used a six-shooter, the largest size Smith & Wesson pattern; but one chamber had been emptied in shooting a dog in the morning, and I could not use another on account of a dent. I now ran into the street, and picked up a rock, when I saw Alexander reel and fall."

POLITICAL.

A NEW Dr. Watts is writing for the New York Times. He says:

While the Ring continues to grab
Oakey Hall will never blab!

LEE COUNTY, which the ex-rebels of the Kentucky Legislature named in honor of Robert E. Lee, was carried by the Republicans at the late election.

THE Republicans carried the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky in the recent election by nearly 3,000 majority, on the Governor's vote. And they reduced the Democratic majority in the Seventh District to 2,181, an actual gain of 1,215 votes.

COL C. C. CARPENTER, the Republican candidate for Governor, and Hon. George G. Wright, United States Senator, opened the campaign at Council Bluffs, Iowa, by a speech on the 16th inst. It was the first political speech Senator Wright has made in seventeen years, as his position on the bench has kept him from taking an active part in political contests heretofore.

THE Selma, Alabama Times and Messenger, makes an appeal for prudence and harmony among the Southern Democrats, and says, hardly with that great moderation it commends: "Let us remember that the leaders of the Northern Democracy have a great deal to contend against, and that there is sometimes great wisdom in using policy to accomplish objects, and especially when the fight is against pirates and outlaws—men who regard not any tactics which are based upon honor or principle."

GEN. McCOOK, in his great campaign speech, is said to have expressed himself of the tariff verbatim, thus: "Talk of the tariff! Two cent a bushel on iron—salt—sugar I mean. Workingmen, think of that. And the bonds ain't taxed, but your salt is taxed, your sugar I mean, two cents a bushel—a pound I mean. And who says that General Jackson was not a great man? Who ever heard of him taxing poor men's salt, sugar I mean, two cents a bushel? No, sir, Old Hickory swore by the Eternal, sugar should be free of tax! Then there is the debt of twenty-five thousand billions, and only two hundred and eighty thousand paid off in five years. Where has the rest gone to? The Republicans stole it to enrich the iron-masters."

The Dublin Riot.

A Dublin correspondent of the London News, writing on August 6th, gives an account of the riot in that city. He says:

An advertisement appeared throughout the city of Dublin about a week ago, announcing a monster meeting to be held on Sunday, August 6th, at Wellington Monument, Phœnix Park, to advocate the release of the political prisoners still confined in English dungeons. Another notice appeared on Saturday, August 5th, signed by the Secretary of the Board of Public Works, stating that the meeting would not be permitted, and that orders had been issued to the police to prevent it. Notwithstanding this, large numbers of people began to assemble around the monument at five, which was the hour announced for the meeting. Shortly after that hour Mr. Smyth, M. P., for Westmeath; Mr. E. A. M. Sullivan, editor of two of the national papers; Mr. O'Byrne, a released political prisoner. Mr. Nolan, Secretary to the Amnesty Association; Mr. Carey, also a released political prisoner, and several other leaders arrived, and were received with immense cheering by the mob, which now numbered many thousand persons.

When Mr. Smyth, M. P., opened the proceedings, he began: "Fellow countrymen and Policemen—Our one object here is quietness" and continued to the effect that he and the promoters of this meeting were anxious above all things to test the legal question as to the rights of those who wished to meet in public for the discussion of public affairs, but to do so peaceably and legally. Mr. Hawe, the Superintendent of Police here, accompanied by one inspector, was advancing to him to remonstrate, when the crowd round, mistaking his intention, and believing he was about to arrest Mr. Smyth, closed round him and beat him so severely that his life was in danger. Seeing this Mr. Smyth and Mr. A. M. Sullivan exerted their authority for his protection, and with partial success, both gentlemen being injured by the blind fury of the mob. A summons was sent for more policemen, who came up in a strong detachment. They arrived only in time to save the lives of their officers, who were now beneath the feet of the mob. A general onslaught was then made by the police, who caught the leaders of the meeting, including Mr. Smyth punishing them severely. The mob retaliated, and stone-throwing and hand-to-hand fighting with the police commenced. The police used their batons freely, and many of the people, including, I regret to say, some women, were soon on the ground insensible.

The mob rapidly increased, and reinforcements of police arrived. A general riot then commenced throughout the entire pleasure grounds; the police charged again and again, the mob meanwhile stoning them vigorously, and the number of wounded increased with terrible rapidity. The whole of the Dublin police force, said to be about 200, were now upon the field, and their opponents were thousands strong. The mob now extended in the direction of the Viceregal Lodge, and it was feared that attempts would be made to attack it, which would, of course, have at once brought out the military. Seditious shouts were heard on all sides, and some arrests were made. The mounted police arrived about an hour after the riot had commenced. Their appearance was the signal for a perfect storm of stone showing. Several of the police were struck, and two of them are hurt severely. They charged frequently, completely routing the rioters, but not until much blood had been spilt. The rioters proceeded from the Park down the Quays, and, as they went, they hissed the name of the Queen, and smashed the windows of every house which had been decorated in honor of the Royal visitors. The mounted police came up with the rioters at Essex Bridge, which is about one mile from the Park gate, and succeeded in completely dispersing them. The riot lasted more than two hours. Forty-five of the rioters were admitted into one hospital alone, all more or less seriously wounded.

Methodist Missionary Work.

The New York evening Post says: From the Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society we have received the following items of intelligence:

The Witness, published fortnightly at Lucknow, Indiana, under the superintendency of the Rev. J. H. Messmore, is a paper double the size of the Missionary Advocate. We have before us No. 4 of volume 1. It is well edited and must prove a valuable auxiliary in the work of our India mission among all English-speaking people, whether native or foreign. The titles of the leading articles are: "A new Class of Mission Helpers," "Opium and its Friends," "Saved," "Salvation by Water" and a great number of brief, well written paragraphs on current events in India, with several sharp, well-put criticisms on articles reflecting upon missionaries and their work. Here is a specimen paragraph of another character: The poor idols are having a hard time of it. Cupidity, malice and fun combine to render them very uncertain property. The latest disaster is from Calcutta, where a Mahaden, valued at twenty-five rupees has been impiously stolen. Perhaps the idol has gone to occupy the new temple in London. But if he can not preserve his skin in Calcutta, what shall we say of his prospect of security in London?

Superintendent Rev. S. G. Lathrop, in Montana, writes that he has just returned (August 1) from a tour through the southern portion of the territory. Having visited most of the appointments of the Rev. Brother Duncan, he reports them as small but hopeful. Brother Duncan is very laborious, and is everywhere well received.

Brother Van Anda, in Virginia City, has organized a class of thirteen members during the last quarter. Brother Iliff is at Deer Lodge and Missoula. Sunday-school interests are prospering. The people are after gold, and very few of them expect to remain here.

The Rev. Wm. Taylor spent a few days with Rev. Henry Jackson at Bijnour, Rohilcund, India, much to the profit and comfort of the mission family, and then proceeded to Nynee Tal, from whence he proposes to to visit Paori, Gurwhal. It is thought he will in October attend the annual meeting of the American Mission at Ahmednugger, Bombay Presidency.

In the statistics sent us from Oude, the province in which Lucknow is located, we notice among the causes of death for 1870 that one hundred and twenty were destroyed by snakes and wild beasts; but that of the latter two at least have been killed—a panther by missionary Mansell, and a bear by missionary Wilson.

"The death of Dr. F. S. m'Gill in Africa, one of our oldest and most valued citizens and wealthy merchants," writes Bishop Roberts, "which occurred on the evening of June 26, is an affliction to the republic. His memory will long be cherished."

AT the assizes of Manchester, England, July 29th, a baby-farmer was convicted of the manslaughter of one child, and of neglecting to supply proper food to three other children. She was sentenced to twenty years' penal servitude.

A NUMBER of weavers in the district of Todmorden, England, have presented a memorial to the medical department of the English government, in which they say that the use of kaolin, or china clay, in the manufacture of calicoes and other gray goods, injures their health. They state that in some mills sizing, including china clay, is now laid upon the warps to the extent of forty, sixty, and even one hundred per cent; that before the American war the percentage was twenty, and that ingredients believed to be poisonous are used to make the china clay adhere to the warp.

ATTEND TO YOUR FEET—CORNS.

One of the most wonderful preparations which has come into use recently is ROBINSON'S CORN PENCIL, which removes from the feet these troublesome excrescences, and that, too, without any pain. Robinson's Corn Solvent dissolves and disintegrates the corn entirely, leaving the feet as smooth and healthy as if the corn had never been there.

It not only removes corns, but warts and bunions, and indurations of any kind are freely removed. Let any one whose feet are troubled with these pests try it at once, and every particle of indurated matter can be removed from the feet. They are sold at 50 cents each, or by the dozen, at KEYSER'S, 167 Liberty street. Sent by mail for 60 cents.

MEDICAL MISTAKES.

It took the faculty about a thousand years to discover that the best way to cure disease was not to render the patient too weak to contend with it. Within the last twenty years, however, the whole system of medical practice has been changed for the better. In diseases or complaints caused by excessive heat, for instance, the doctors no longer recommend the reduction of the invalid's strength by prostrating medicines. The vast success which has attended the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for debility, has given even the most prejudiced members of the old school an insight into the only true and rational theory of cure. Cantharides, calomel, and overpowering doses of opium, are now among the obsolete nostrums of another age. The lancet, once as much the legitimate weapon of the physician as the sword is of the soldier, is seldom drawn from its case. The principle of life is no longer drained from the veins by the quart, and water-gruel for the strengthless invalid has ceased to be considered an appropriate diet. Vigor is the motto of the rational members of the profession, and they understand, at last, the value of a sterling vegetable tonic. So, also with the people at large; and without consulting medical men at all, they have adopted the bitters as a household remedy, thereby economizing both cash and health.

Note the fact, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only, never in bulk, and that the abortions springing up in various parts of the country, and sometimes offered as substitutes for the great national specific, are all utterly worthless.

It has a smaller amount of shrinkage, sets gradual, bears as much sand as any cement made, and gets as hard; stands frost well; it has all the qualities that hydraulic cement should have. The facilities for getting this cement is greater than all others in this market, less freight and fresher, which is an important matter. Having but a short distance to ship we can therefore sell cheaper than any other in the market.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray: either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of women and men. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Finance and Trade.

NEW YORK, August 23, 1871.

Gold opened weak, selling down from 112⅜ to 112⅛, but rallied at the close to 112⅜. During the morning from 3-32 down to 1-64 was paid for use, and in one instance ⅛ for immediate delivery after the government sale for cash. Gold has become very easy, and from 2 to 4 per cent. per annum was paid for carrying over night. Clearances, $84,000,000. The bids for government gold were $6,036,000 at from 111 to 112.38½; awards $2,000,000 at from 112.17 to 112.38½; exports to-day were $128,000. Governments this morning were steady on long bonds, and feverish and weak on 5-20's. The market at present lacks support of foreign dealers, but after the purchases by the government the market advanced from ⅛ to ⅜, and closed steady and strong. No further news has been received from Europe in regard to the new 5 per cent. loan. Local subscriptions, or rather conversions today amount to nearly $5,000,000. Offerings at the Treasury purchase were $3,374,350 at from 111.88 to 112; awards $1,000,000 at from 111 to 112.23. Stock market active and strong, especially for Western Union, New York Central and Hudson and Scrip, Lake Shore, Ohio and Wabash. It was reported this evening that the long talked of dividend in Lake Shore would be declared this week, but the rumor could not be traced to any reliable source. The market is gaining strength every day. The Express says that the leading operators with their many followers will begin their homeward march next week, and there is no doubt that the Stock Exchange is on the verge of increased activity and attractive fluctuations. Money was more plenty to-day at the close, and was offered at 2½ per cent. State bonds dull and neglected.

—The New York Produce Exchange Circular has the following:

The stocks of wheat in Chicago and Milwaukee are only about one-quarter of what they were at this date in 1870.

Of the wheat receipts at Western ports during the week ending the 12th inst., about two-thirds, or 860,000 bu, were at St. Louis and Lake Erie ports. This is mostly new winter wheat. The bulk of the receipts of winter wheat at Lake Erie ports usually comes forward during the first four or five weeks after the harvest. The movement of both wheat and flour to St. Louis and New Orleans is, at the present time, very large. The receipts at St. Louis the past week were 44,301 bbls. of flour, and 243,909 bu of wheat. This movement has been caused, to a very considerable extent, by the milling demand from Tennessee, Kentucky, Northern Alabama and Georgia, where the wheat crop this year was almost a failure. The movement of flour to the Southern States has resulted in lighter receipts here, being only 64,309 bbls for the week against 44,301 bbls at St. Louis. Whether this demand is to be continued time will determine. If it shall be continued for any considerable time, the tendency will be to appreciate the value of flour, which is now proportionately lower than the current prices of wheat. The harvest of the spring wheat is in progress in the Northwestern States, but the yield cannot be definitely determined till the threshing shall have been generally commenced. The spring wheat crop will not be moved in much volume till about the middle to last of September and the first half of October, and for a considerable time the receipts here of spring wheat will be small and limited to those by rail.

The weekly rail receipts here now aggregate of all kinds of grain about 600,000, of which last week's included 266,000 bushels of wheat, 65,000 bushels of corn, and 283,000 bushels of oats.

The export clearances for the week were for Europe 445,551 bushels of wheat and 332,763 bushels of corn against receipts: Wheat, 650,765 bushels; corn, 949,136 bushels. In the export clearances are several cargoes of both wheat and corn to the continent.

Yesterday's cable reported favorable weather for the crops of the United Kingdom, and for the week ending the 4th instant the weather was also favorable, but at the earlier date the accounts of their appearance were so conflicting that no definite conclusion as to the probable results could be arrived at. The reports from some districts were favorable for a good yield, while from others there were serious complaints. It is believed that with good weather an average crop may be possible but with the much unfavorable weather that has prevailed that is scarcely probable.

The demand for wheat for the continent has taken several cargoes of California and red American which was caused by the upward tendency of prices in French markets.

The crop reports of Southern Russia for the first week in August were less favorable. The extreme temperature that had prevailed, had injured the growing wheat, and Odessa reports that the Ghirka wheats which were on the ground had been so shrivelled by the heat as to diminish the yield largely, some estimating ¼ of a crop, while in Besserabia there was good promise of an abundant harvest. The previously favorable reports from Taganrog, where a good crop of wheat had been expected, were less favorable, it being found that the New Ghirka wheat was light weight, and that parcels of heavy and superior quality will be much more scarce than in 1870, while the crop of hard wheat had been injured still more seriously, the excessive high temperature having shrivelled the kernels. The quality of the rye crop was also impaired from same cause.

With fine weather the harvest in Hungary was favorably progressing, and an average crop of wheat was expected.

In Germany the harvest will be better than usual. Storms have lodged the grain. It is expected that the crop, though late, will be good.

The oat and barley crop of France will be abundant, but from the reports recently received, the wheat crop will be smaller than for several years.

—The Chicago Tribune of Tuesday referring to the wheat market says: The market was one of the most active known here for a long time. It is stated that fully 500,000 bu were sold on Saturday and to-day by the Canadians alone; they bought all along from $1.02 and $1.00, down to 96c, and have now sold out at a handsome profit, rather than run the risk of shipment. When bought the market was 6@10c per bu in favor of the shipper, so large a margin having been unknown for a long time, whereas the recent rapid advance has carried it above the Liverpool market. Wheat was worth about $1.09 for shipment to Liverpool to-day, and prices must settle down to about that point unless Liverpool should advance, or our own market prove to be cornered for this month. The fears of the August shorts are shown in the facts that No. 2 spring averaged to-day 5⅜c higher for delivery this month than in September.

BROOM CORN—Is quiet and unchanged, 5@7 cts per lb, as to quality.

COUNTRY BACON—Is very dull though the stock in this market is pretty well reduced. Country Lard is still quoted at 8@8½.

CHEESE—Is reported firmer at the factories, and, as the "heated term" is drawing to a close, the offerings are not so large, and the demand for strictly prime cheese is likely to improve. We continue to quote prime Goshen at 10@10½; Factory at 9@9½, and Dairy at 8@8½.

EGGS—The market for strictly fresh is firmer, in consequence of a diminished supply, together with some inquiry from the east; strictly fresh may be fairly quoted at 12—we are cognizant of sales at that figure.

Peaches, in steady demand and we can report regular sales at $1,00@1,50 per box for fair to good and $1.75@2,00 for choice. Plums, quotable at $3,00@3.50 per bushel, and the arrivals are falling off. GRAIN—There was a very good attendance on change to-day, and for most kinds of grain, particularly oats and wheat, a stronger feeling was manifested. GROCERIES—The market is quiet and devoid of any new features excepting the stiffening in sugars, of which notice was made in our last report. Coffees continue strong at the recent advance, and importers are still reported "bullish;" however, there is not as much excitement as there was a few days ago, and jobbers, generally, so far as we can learn, are not disposed to load very heavily, notwithstanding, the market has had a very bullish appearance for several weeks. PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY August 23, 1871. }

The petroleum market continues very quiet and presents no new characteristics worthy of special notice. Most of our refiners are busy receiving crude and shipping refined, filling contracts made some time ago, but brokers and dealers report this as being one of the worst years they have ever experienced in the business, and what is worse still there is but little prospect, so far at least as they are concerned, of any immediate improvement. Notwithstanding, there has been and is still considerable complaint, so far as we can learn, most of our manufacturers have done very well, though margins are not near as large as they were a few years ago, but this is true of almost every branch of business —petroleum is not an exception. In some respects the oil trade of Pittsburgh is in a better condition now, that is for manufacturers, than it has been for several years, while in others there is still room for an improvement.

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
WEDNESDAY, August 23, 1871. }

CATTLE.

The receipts thus far this week have been liberal, some dealers thought they were fully as large as during the same time last week, but, with an improved demand, the market was a shade firmer, though prices are not quotably higher. The Philadelphia buyers, having had a pretty good market at home, on Monday, bought more freely than they have been doing for some time past, and but for them, the improvement, to which we have just referred, would not have taken place, as the advices, both from New York and Buffalo, were anything but encouraging. On Saturday prime to extra shipping cattle were quoted at 5@5½ and the same quotations will answer to-day, though, as will be seen, a few small droves of fancy brought 5¾—it was rumored that there had been one sale at 6 cts. Stock steers, and there are a good many of this kind offering, may be quoted at 3½@4½. Cherokee cattle, 3@4 cts.

Western advices give a most discouraging account of the cattle trade. At Baxter Springs and the sources of supply there is absolutely no market, with some forty thousand head of cattle within a few miles of the city and fresh herds constantly arriving. And yet not half the cattle ready for market are at the shipping points, while drovers, after a tedious and annoying journey of six or seven weeks over the plains from Texas, reach market and find prices so low that not only is pretty much everything eaten up in expenses, but in some cases it is almost impossible to sell their droves. Last year cattle were selling at Baxter at 2c per lb, this year they have been freely offered at 1c and now have no regular price.

SHEEP.

The "run" of sheep thus far has been light, and the market particularly for the better grades, is considerably stronger and prices, as compared with last week, are higher. For nice fat lots there has been and is still a steady demand and everything coming up to this standard sold quickly at full figures, say 5@5¼ for good 90 to 95 lbs averages, and 5½@5¾ for prime to extra 100 to 110 lb sheep. The common grades, however are no better than last week, and the supply of this kind is larger than that of the former.

HOGS.

The market was a little offish to-day, and while there has been but very little if any decline as yet, the indications at present point to a lower range of prices. There has been no perceptible increase in the receipts, but there has been a falling off in the demand, as the inquiry is not near as brisk as it was at the close of the week, and, furthermore, the break in Chicago was not without its effect here. Philadelphia hogs to-day may be fairly quoted at $5,20@5,25 and Yorkers at $4,90@5,10.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly, while the weather is clear and warm with but little prospect of rain. The Monongahela has got so low that it is difficult for the mail boats to navigate, while the Allegheny is said to be lower than it has been for many years.

The country needs rain badly, and in some places it is reported that farmers have difficulty in getting enough water for their stock.

—The last number of the Rising Sun Recorder contains the following, which is too good to be lost: "Rising Sun is a city of as much magnitude as any other place of similar size that can be found on the map. In witness whereof we have affixed hereunto the following truthful anecdote: Mr. Cons. Millar, the affable river editor of the Cincinnati Commercial, started out recently with John J. Piatt, the well-known Western poet and newspaper writer, among the sights of the Queen City. Stopping in a handsomely-furnished office on Third street, Mr. Millar presented Mr. Piatt to the presiding genius of the place in these words: 'Permit me to introduce Mr. S. F. Covington, Vice President of the Globe Insurance Company, and President of the Board of Aldermen of this city.' Mr. Covington came from Rising Sun, a little city in Indiana, down the river thirty-five miles.' The two gentlemen had hardly finished shaking hands when another entered the room. 'Mr. Piatt,' said Millar, 'this is Captain J. H. Pepper, one of our leading steamboatmen, who is now building about the finest steamer here that ever plied on Western waters. Captain Pepper was born at Rising Sun, Indiana.' 'Happy to meet you, Captain Pepper,' said Mr. Piatt, and just then a new-commer stepped in. 'Ah, Mr. Piatt,' said Millar, 'this is Dr. L. A. James, a prominent physician of Cincinnati. I must add that Dr. James, too, first saw daylight at Rising Sun. You will want to go down and see that town that sends so many leading men to Cincinnati.' 'Oh, there's no occasion for that,' replied Piatt, 'I was born at Rising Sun, Indiana, myself.' 'Well, good God!' exclaimed the astonished Cons., 'what would Cincinnati do if it wasn't for Rising Sun? Wonder if old Cincinnatus himself didn't hail from there?' The Sun boys assured them there were plenty more where they came from, so Cincinnati need not get frightened.

—Referring to the improvements of Kanawha river, the Charleston Courier says: Capt. Gardner, the superintendent of the dredge boats, informs us that he will finish Johnson shoals in about a week, when he will remove the dredges to Red House shoals. Johnson shoals is now in excellent condition, and Red House will soon be thoroughly improved. The present low water season affords a good opportunity to improve the river, and we are glad to learn that the Kanawha board is doing good work.

—The Adams Arkansas Packet Line have been awarded the river mail contract for four years from July last, between the mouth of Arkansas and Little Rock. They are to deliver the mails twice each week the year round. During the active business season the mail will be carried three times each week, though the contract does not require this.

—The Ella Hughes has been chartered by the Louisville and Henderson Packet Company, and not the Umpire, to run during the low-water season between Evansville and Owensboro. The Burksville will take the place of the Ella Hughes in the Louisville and Cairo trade.

—The new boat building for Captain Perry, at Jeffersonville, will be a duplicate of the John Howard, which steamer was destroyed in the disastrous conflagration that consumed the Thompson Dean.

—At last accounts the United States snag-boat De Russey was working in John Boise Bend, in Missouri River, the Long at Baltimore, and the Abert at Bonhomme.

—New Orleans is to have a fine park at the river. It is the Foucher property—price $600,000—or that portion of it running from the river to St. Charles avenue —The Skillinger, on her recent downward trip, knocked the stern out of a loaded coal flat at Guyan. The coal can be saved.

—The snag-boat Zebra is working on the sunken stone-boat at the head of Rising Sun Bar.

—The Warner and barges are laid up at Captina, 20 miles below Wheeling.

Youthful Thieves Arrested—Six small boys were arrested last night and confined in the Central Station House on a charge of entering the house of Mrs. Boulton, on Twenty-second street, last Sunday, during the absence of the family, and stealing a gold ring, a revolver, a pair of skates and a number of other articles. The boys admit that they entered the house, but claim that they were led into the affair by one of their number named McIntire, who, they say, did all the stealing. Their case will be heard this morning.

Boy Seriously Hurt.

A little boy named James Lusk met with a severe accident in Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. The boy (who is not more than ten years of age) was driving a wagon up Federal street, and when crossing the Park the wagon struck something and the boy was jotted off alighting on his head. A large, deep and painful gash was cut in his forehead. Dr. Smith sewed up the wound and the boy was taken to his home.

McPherson Again.

It is now probable that the creditors of J. C. McPherson, the absconding merchant tailor, will be subjected to the conditions, whether favorable or unfavorable, imposed by the bankrupt laws. Yesterday Mr. Robert A. Young, of Allegheny, a creditor to the amount of five thousand dollars, filed a petition in the United States District Court, asking that McPherson be declared a bankrupt. The usual preliminary order was made, and should the petitioner's prayer be granted, it is presumed that parties holding first judgments will not fare any better than those who were behind in the race to the Prothonotary's office.

Jennie Rogers et al.

A hearing was had yesterday at the office of Alderman Logan in the case of Jennie Rogers and others, charged with keeping a bawdy house. The evidence being insufficient to convict the parties, they were discharged. During the progress of the hearing, a difficulty between Mr. McCarthy, attorney for defendants, and Officer Sarber, witness for the prosecution, terminated in the latter being arrested and taken to the lock-up by Officer John Trimble. He deposited $15 with Clerk Patterson, and was released until this morning, when a hearing will be had. From our information, the arrest appears to have been unwarranted, and a charge of false imprisonment will likely be preferred against Officer Trimble in consequence.

A Prisoner Escapes.

A colored man, named John Thomas, who was in custody of the constable of Richland township, succeeded in escaping on Tuesday, and is still at large. It appears that in March last John Wallace, a farmer residing in West Deer township, lost a valuable silver watch and some forty dollars in money. They were stolen from his pocket, and the thief succeeded in getting away with the booty. Suspicion rested on Thomas, and on the 15th inst. Wallace made an information before 'Squire Austin, charging him with larceny. The accused was arrested, and after a hearing, in default of bail, a commitment was made out and placed in the hands of the the township constable. On the way to the city, Thomas gave the officer the slip, and is still at liberty.

To Housekeepers and Grocerymen.

We desire to call the attention of housekeepers and grocerymen to the celebrated Plumer Catsup. This catsup is manufactured from the heart of the tomato, using none of the skins and refused parts, which all the eastern manufactured article is made from. Mrs. Plumer, a very worthy lady, of Allegheny city, manufactures it, and we can say, from personal knowledge, one bottle will go as far as two of the most kinds of eastern make. This lady will call on our grocery stores in a few days, when she hopes to receive their orders. Private families will be called on also, or letters addressed to her, No. 45 Smithfield street, will be attended to. Some eight hundred barrels of this catsup were sold last summer, which is certainly a very fair test of its good qualities.

John S. Dilworth & Co.

This substantial old wholesale Grocery house finding how general the demand has become for prepared or roasted coffee, have determined to supply their own large trade with the article in the highest state of purity and have accordingly set up a large Roaster of the most approved modern construction which roasts the coffee so as not to lose its [illegible] natural aroma, and unlike others who use only inferior coffee for roasting, they carefully select the best qualities and sell only such as cannot fail to please the most fastidious lovers of good coffee. It is worth while for the numerous family grocers scattered throughout the cities and country to know where they can obtain an article that never fails to give the highest satisfaction to the consumer. Warehouse No. 130 and 132 Second avenue.

A Bull on the Rampage.

As a drove of cattle were being driven yesterday morning along Sandusky street, Allegheny, about ten o'clock, a bovine of the masculine persuasion, took it into his head to see the city for himself, the energetic persuasions of the drover to the contrary, notwithstanding. Accordingly Mr. Bull, at the corner of Hemlock street took a new departure, following that street until he came to Federal. He started down Federal street, knocking over a woman without hurting her, but scaring her most fearfully. In front of grocery store, he demolished a number of watermelons. His next feat was to dash into a crowd of children, upsetting a little boy named Gumbert and tramping on his hand, injuring it severely. His attention was then attracted to a lady carrying a parasol with a bright red lining. He proceeded to knock the lady down, frightening her greatly. He then started off in the direction of the drove yards where he was captured and caged.

Summary Sanitary Measures.

Yesterday before Alderman John A. Floyd Health Officer Gray made informations charging Conrad Schad, John Green and James Freel with maintaining nuisances on their premises, said premises being located on Suke's Run. It is alleged against Schad, who is a butcher, that he throws the refuse articles from his meat shop into a yard near the shop, where they are permitted to remain until a rank and offensive stench arises therefrom, greatly to the annoyance of the neighbors, and highly detrimental to the sanitary condition of that section of the city. Against the other defendants it is alleged that they own a brace of pig pens which maintain a lively competition with Schad's beef bones and bull horns in the matter of fouleness of stench and general disagreeableness. Each of the defendants was fined five dollars and costs, which they paid, and, upon promising to abate the nuisances complained of, they were discharged.

Slight Accident.

Tuesday evening two men narrowly escaped death at the railroad crossing at North and Irwin avenue, Allegheny. They were riding in a buggy, and as they approached the crossing were engaged in conversation. Just as they reached the track, one of the occupants saw a train approaching rapidly, and also observed the watchman wave his red light. He tried to tell his companion, but was too much excited. He jumped from the buggy and escaped unhurt. His friend, whose name is Leffert, did not notice the train until the horse was partially over the track. He gave the animal a cut and it bounded beyond danger. The buggy, however, was struck and almost completely wrecked by the engine, and the occupant thrown some fifteen feet. He sustained a severe gash on the head and was bruised about the body. He was removed to Bepler's hotel in the Diamond, where he was attended by Dr. Buchanan, and afterwards taken home. He is rapidly recovering.

Tripartite Bridge Company.

A meeting of the board of directors of the tripartite bridge company was held yesterday. Although the members were not all present, those who were there exhibited the utmost confidence in the success of the project. Plans and estimates were shown by Mr. Roebling and Mr. Davis. The cost of the bridge is estimated at from $500,000 to $800,000, according to the plans adopted. Another meeting of the board will be held in about two weeks or as soon as some of the members who are now absent return to the city. A plan of the bridge will then be agreed upon, and the subscription books opened. The gentlemen who have undertaken this immense work seem determined to push it with the utmost vigor. They expect to commence operations in a few weeks, and that at the expiration of two years the bridge will be finished.

Gen. Moorhead, who is now president, is going to resign, his health being so bad that he does not feel equal to the task. It is expected that Mr Hostetter will be elected to fill the position. It is confidently predicted that the proposed bridge will pay a handsome dividend on a million of dollars from the very start, and will pay for itself in a few years.

Proceedings in Equity.

Proceedings in equity were yesterday commenced in the Court of Common Pleas by S. Schoyer, Jr., for himself and other stockholders of the Warren and Venango Oil Company vs. J. J. Gillespie and Hugh Miles and the afore mentioned Company. The bill sets forth that Mr. S. is a Director in the Company, and that at a meeting of which he was not notified a portion of the territory owned or leased by the Company, had been sub-leased to H. Miles, Superintendent of the Company, for development, at a royalty of one eighth the oil, and that Mr. Gillespie, who is President of the Company, is the real lessee. The complainant alleges that the lease was not legally made, and asks the Court to restrain the parties, by injunction, from transferring, selling, or in any manner disposing of the leasehold of that portion of the Company's property except by consent of the Court. He also asks Court to decree an account by Messrs. Gillespie and Miles of all moneys received by them from said leasehold in any manner, and that the same be paid over to the Company. He further asks that the respondents be directed to transfer the sub-leases and leasehold to the Company, and that a receiver be appointed to receive all royalties, moneys and shares of oil reserved to the respondents.

Mr. Zug's Treatment of Bad Boys.

Yesterday two boys giving their names as John Gilliman and Charley Morgan were brought to the Mayor's office by an employee at Zug's iron mills, the lads having been arrested for trespassing on the premises. Mr. Zug accompanied the party to the office, and very kindly requested that the boys should be leniently dealt with. The youthful prisoners were then severely reprimanded, after which Mr. Zug became bail for their future good behavior and they were discharged. It appears that Mr. Z. has given notice to a party of youths who have been commiting depredations on his premises that they would be arrested whenever found loitering about his establishment. He was compelled to resort to this course by reason of the fact that the young rascals steal everything they can lay their hands on. Several arrests have been made previous to those of yesterday, all of which terminated in a similar manner, the kind hearted prosecutor each time bailing the culprits, and procuring their release. It is now believed that the boys have come to the conclusion that they can impose on his generosity with impunity. We think he would save himself much annoyance if he would send a few of the young depredators to the House of Refuge.

A DECISION IN BANKRUPTCY.

The M. & M. Bank of Pittsburgh vs. The Brady's Bend Iron Company—Appointment of a Provisional Assignee Refused.

Some time ago the M. & M. National Bank of this city, through their attorneys, filed a petition in the United States District Court asking that the Brady's Bend Iron Company be declared bankrupts. The petitioners also alleged that the company was removing its goods and chattels, the products of its works, from its place of business at Brady's Bend, and that such disposition of its property was fraudulent and intended to defeat the provisions of the bankrupt law. They therefore asked the Court to issue their warrant to the Marshal, commanding him to take possession, provisionally, of all the property of the company. To the petition the defendants filed an answer, denying the acts of bankruptcy charged, and asking a trial of the case before a jury. To the latter allegations a denial was filed by the Iron Company, assigning reasons why the prayer of the petitioners should not be granted. The case was ably argued before the Court by Messrs. Veech, C. B. M. Smith and D. Watson for the petitioners, and by E. S. Golden, Esq., for the respondents.

Yesterday morning Judge McCandless delivered the opinion of the Court, in which, on the question as to the appointment of a provisional assignee, he said:

"The exercise of this power, appointing a provisional assignee, is one of great delicacy, and should not be called into action unless the Court is satisfied that it is necessary for the protection of the property, and that it will inure to the benefit of all the creditors. It is discretionary, but it is a legal discretion, to be used with the best lights before us. We must be satisfied that the disposition of the property is fraudulent, with the designs to remove the same to the prejudice of the general creditors and to defeat the provisions of the bankrupt law.

"It is not charged in the adversary petition that the stoppage of payment of the commercial paper was fraudulent, but in the application for the appointment of a provisional assignee the removal of the railroad iron, in fulfillment of a contract long since made, is declared to be so. Fraudently means knowingly, and without just excuse, applicable to the paper itself. If a man, or corporation, declines to pay, because he is not liable to pay, or because he has a valid claim against the paper, or a set off, that is not a stoppage or suspension within the bankrupt law. 3 B. R. 83, Bumb 500. Take the case of a forgery. An honest defense to the particular paper unpaid, would take the case out of the statute. If this be so, how can the removal of the goods of the debtor in the performance of an existing contract be deemed fraudulent? It is but the exercise of the legitimate functions of the corporation in carrying on their business, and for all the goods shipped they receive an equivalent in bills of exchange or money, which is for the benefit of all the creditors. To appoint a provisional assignee, pending the issue to be tried by a jury, would be to arrest the operation of the machinery, stop these extensive and valuable works, and throw hundreds of men out of employment, for we cannot order the Marshal to do more than take possession of and guard the property of the corporation until the trial by jury is had, or until the further order of the court. This would be ruinous to both debtor and creditor, and would impair the security which the latter has for the payment of his debt. It is proper to add that since the argument I have conferred with my brother McKennan, and we concur in the principles upon which this case should be decided.

"The rule is discharged, and the appointment of a provisional assignee is refused."

This case has excited considerable interest, not only because of the large amount of money involved in the proceeding, but owing to the fact that upwards of fifteen hundred workmen are in the employment of the Company, and if an adverse decision had been rendered, all of them would have been thrown out of employment.

THAT STOLEN MARE.

Hearing Before Alderman Humbert—Dr. Meredith Fails to Produce His Man, and is Committed Until Next Tuesday.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon there was a hearing in the cases of the Commonwealth against Dr. J. W. Meredith and Andrew McTighe, the former being charged with stealing a mare belonging to Mr. Joseph Plummer and the latter with having in his possession the stolen property. For the purpose of identification the stolen mare was brought from the stable down to the Alderman's office.

The first witness examined was Mr. J. H. Malone, bookkeeper for Mr. Plummer, who testified that the mare was the property of that gentleman.

Mr. Allen Kirkpatrick testified that the mare was at pasture on his premises, and that she disappeared from there on the night of July 28th.

Mr. Shaffer, Mr. McTighe's partner, was sworn, and stated that the mare was found in his stable; that he purchased her on Saturday morning, July 29th, at about ten o'clock; that he paid $125 for the animal. He was now satisfied that the mare belonged to Mr. Plummer.

Mr. McTighe said that he had never claimed that he owned the mare, and that he had nothing to do with her. The Magistrate thereupon discharged McTighe, and told Mr. Malone that as the representative of the owner, he could take possession of the property.

The magistrate then addressed himself to Dr. Meredith as follows:

Alderman—Dr. Meredith, can you give an account of the manner in which you obtained possession of the mare?

Prisoner—Yes, sir; I bought her from another party.

Alderman—When will you be prepared to prove that allegation?

Prisoner—May it please your Honor, I would like to have one week. In that time I think I will be able to find the party from whom I made the purchase.

Alderman—This is a serious affair, and I must require bail in the sum of one thousand dollars for your appearance here on Tuesday, 29th inst.

Prisoner—I am not prepared to furnish that amount of bail.

A commitment was then made out, and officer Keep escorted the prisoner to jail, where, unless bail be forthcoming in the meantime, he will be compelled to remain until the time mentioned. Under these circumstances Dr. Meredith's chances of producing the man from whom he alleges he bought the stolen property are decidedly bad. It is whispered that the doctor has some revelations to make in regard to the manner in which the bill for which he claims he took the mare was contracted, which, if made public, will create a profound sensation in the community.

GREENSBURG.

Letter from Our Special Correspondent—Some Items of Interest.

Local news about our borough and neighborhood is exceedingly scarce at present. The chief matter worthy of record is the unusual enterprise some of our citizens have been manifesting within the past few weeks. The most prominent of these is the new Masonic Temple, which is progressing rapidly. It is a large building with handsome iron front (something new here) and will be three stories in height. The hall will be a beautiful one and amply large to accommodate the Lodge at this place. Below there will be a spacious and handsome storehouse. The new building being erected by Mr. Laird as a residence is very handsome, and will be an ornament to the village. There are several other fine structures in the course of erection.

A day or two since a little boy name Howard Smith, a son of William T. Smith, of Beatty's Station, had his hand caught between two wheels of a threshing machine, while at play, and so severely was it crushed that amputation was rendered necessary.

The colored population of the borough enjoyed themselves hugely last week. They attended a picnic at Saltsburg en masse. The day was the anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, and as such was of course considered a grand day of jubilee by the colored folks.

We learn that the house of Mr. William Hughes in the village of Salem, this county, was considerably damaged by fire about a week since. Before the flames had attained much headway, however, the citizens succeeded in extinguishing them. The fire was caused by sparks from a chimney.

Glenwood Grove Campmeeting—Tuesday's Services.

The prayer-meeting at 9 o'clock in the morning was attended by all upon the ground and was exceedingly profitable. At 10 o'clock, Rev. W. H. Phipps preached from the text, "But we all with open face behold the glory of God, and changed into the same image from glory to glory ever as by the spirit of the Lord." In the afternoon the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered, in which all the ministers took part, among them being Rev. Mr. Stuchel, of the Hazlewood Presbyterian Church. The services after communion took the form of a general class-meeting, and many embraced the opportunity of giving in their experience. The sermon at night was preached by Rev. F. A. Day, of the Second Methodist Church, of Pittsburgh, from the words: "And behold two blind men sitting by the wayside, and as Jesus passed by they cried out, Jesus of Nazareth, have mercy on us."

The meeting will break up to-morrow morning after 10 o'clock services. Altogether the meeting has been a remarkable one, and in every respect a decided success.

It was an experiment, holding a campmeeting within the precincts of the city, but now it is demonstrated that a successful and profitable meeting may be held within four miles of Pittsburgh without danger of disturbance.

His Honor, Mayor Brush, kept an efficient police force upon the ground, and though they were not called into requisition, but once, their presence had a good influence.

Wednesday morning the camp-meeting closed with appropriate remarks by W. Collier, D. D. Results of the meeting may be summed up in a few words. A general increase of spiritual interest in all the churches participating, between fifteen and twenty-five conversions, and the awaking of a camp-meeting spirit in all the people, to such an extent that these out-door services will become popular with the denomination.

Yours Respectfully,
J. D. Herr.

Mr. William P. Jones.

Our announcement in yesterday's Gazette of the sudden and alarming illness of this gentleman, we are pained to say, was followed, even before we went to press, by his death. This sad event was forstokened by many indications from time to time during the past year, of an impaired physical constitution. Mr. Jones was a brother-in-law and partner of the late Moses Atwood, who, under the firm of Atwood & Jones, established about 1835, and for several years carried on an extensive commission and forwarding business on Water street. The death of Mr. Atwood, of course, determined the co-parthership, and the substitution of railway for canal and river transportation did away with the old-fashioned modes. Mr. Jones accepted the Pittsburgh agency of the North American Insurance Company of Philadelphia. This agency of one of the best offices in the east had been long held by the late George Cochran, Esq., afterwards by Mr. Atwood, and still later by Mr. Jones, who relinquished it when elected a few years ago to the Secretaryship of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Insurance Company, a popular and prosperous local institution. To the interests of this latter Mr. Jones has devoted the last years of his life. He was remarkable for close and diligent attention to business; was rarely known to be out of his office during office hours; was a skillful and accurate accountant and veteran underwriter, and whether in business or social circles, was esteemed alike for sterling integrity and for a quiet, unostentatious life of strict moral rectitude. Such men are always missed most by those who know them best. The time for his funeral obsequies will be found in our obituary column.

Quite a number of complaints were made yesterday at the office of the Allegheny Health Officer, charging parties with maintaining nuisances. The chief nuisances complained against were the soap manufactories in the neighborhood of Butcher's Run. The Health Officer notified the parties to abate these nuisances.

We are pained to announce the death, at Tyrone, Pa., of Mr. Thomas C. Duff, son of the late P. Duff, Esq., of Duff's College, which occurred yesterday. The deceased was a young man widely known and greatly appreciated. He was good and kind hearted, and his death will fill many hearts in this community with deep sorrow.

Last February a man named Morris Collins was sentenced by the United States authorities to six months imprisonment and a fine of $1000, for violation of the revenue laws in not procuring a special license as a liquor dealer. His term of imprisonment expired yesterday, and the President having remitted the fine, he was discharged.

Yesterday a laboring man called at our counting room and ordered a paper to be left at his residence, —— street, Allegheny. After receiving his order, we looked up into his face, and beheld a man whose face was raw with small pox. Why do men persist in trying to spread this disease. There should be some law to have them arrested.

Yesterday morning, at about half-past five o'clock, as a train of empty freight cars was being backed from the bridge into the tunnel on the Pan-Handle Railroad, a portion of the cars jumped the track near the Second avenue crossing. Five of the cars were thrown off and more or less wrecked. The track was obstructed for about half an hour.

Mr. Charles Meiering whose beat includes the Second Avenue Park, is regarded as one of the very best and most efficient officers on the force. Since assuming command of that district no robbery has been committed, nor has any disorder been noticeable. He is the right man in the right place, and we only wish our whole police force was made up of such good material.

Shortly before ten o'clock Tuesday night a slight fire occurred at the House No. 46 Hemlock street, Allegheny, occupied by a colored family named Bay. It seems that Mrs. Bay had been filling a lamp with oil and when in lighting a match some of the fluid which had been spilled on the table took fire. The fire was extinguished in a few moments, and no alarm was given.

Yesterday morning C. C. Taylor, Esq., attorney for Elizabeth Powell, instituted legal proceedings against Joseph Peterson for breach of promise of marriage. The plaintiff alleges that the promise was duly made and the time of marriage decided upon, but notwithstanding the fact that she is ready and willing that the contract should be fulfilled, the defendant has refused and still refuses to make good his promises.

In regard to several applications from distillers indebted to the Government for unpaid taxes, asking an extension of time for payment, with the consent of their bondsmen, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue rules that no authority exists under the law for granting such an extension of time. He holds that the law points out when the tax becomes due, and the course to be pursued for its collection, and that no discretion rests to do otherwise than to pursue the course pointed out in the law.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Yesterday's Criminalities.

Owing to the illness of Mayor Brush, Deputy Mayor Nichols officiated yesterday, and disposed of thirty-one common cases at the early court.

Deputy Mayor Irwin, of Allegheny, disposed of three common cases at the morning hearing. For disorderly conduct John Johnston was fined ten dollars; for vagrancy, Dominec Klindhams received sixty days.

Ellen McCann made information yesterday before Alderman Humbert, charging her husband, Edward McCann, with abandonment. The accused was arrested and gave bail for a hearing. Then the fact was made known by Alderman Logan's constable, that the wife had charged her husband before that magistrate with desertion, and he had to go there also and give bail.

Patrick Bradley was arrested for disorderly conduct in the neighborhood of East Liberty. He went, in company with a military aspirant, to a tavern and called for beer. This was refused, as it was thought both had had enough. Then, as is alleged, Patrick assaulted the proprietor's wife and was arrested therefor. He was fined ten dollars and costs.

Wm. Cowell was arrested for vagrancy and Deputy Mayor Irwin concluded that the work-house would prove beneficial to him; so he sent him up for sixty days.

Charles Hazlett made an information charging Mrs. Alexander with disorderly conduct. The accused resides at No. 5 Fleming row, head of Boyle street. A warrant was issued for her arrest.

Mrs. John Crush lodged an information in the prothonatory's office charging Robert Brown and wife of Gosling court, with slander. Rich testimony, it is said, will be adduced at the trial.

Mistresses Wooley and Dunnig were committed for a hearing by Alderman O'Donnell.

Alderman Shors issued a warrant for the arrest of George Anderson, charged by Richard Redman with larceny, by bailee of a pair of boots.

Alderman Thomas had cross suits yesterday. C. S. Black and John Foley had a rumpus in which Mr. Black got severely worked up. Each charged the other with assault and battery.

Alderman O'Donnell took the information of Rachel Hussey, proprietor of a boarding house, at Woods' Run, charging Michael Hailey, John Jackson, Thomas Murphey, and John Walters with larceny of two suits, belonging to one of her boarders. Warrants were issued and Halley arrested and held for court.

Before Alderman Strain Michael Conner complained that a man named Reismeyer called him a horse thief and other approbious names. The accused will be required to answer the charge of disorderly conduct.

Before the same magistrate John McGern accused Ed. Stanton of stealing twenty dollars. It is alleged by the prosecutor that he was in the saloon at the corner of Fifth avenue and Ross street, in company with the accused, when the sum of twenty dollars disappeared from his pocket book in a strange and mysterious manner, and that he has reason to believe that the money was stolen by Stanton. Warrant issued.

A little boy was taken to the Allegheny lock-up last evening, charged with stealing fruit from the trees of William Hogg on Washington avenue.

Fred Alley made a complaint before 'Squire Ammon, of the South Side, charging two boys named Stein and three others with misdemeanor, in despoiling his garden. Warrants issued.

Two boys were placed in the lock-up last night, at their father's request, for general incorrigibility, and will probably be sent to the refuge to-day.

FALL FROM A ROOF.

A Carpenter Seriously Injured.

Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock the carpenters at work on a new house on Jefferson street, Allegheny, were raising a bundle of shingles to the roof of the house by means of a rope and pulley. One of them, a young man named Frank Minehart, who was on the roof, took hold of the rope just as the shingles were elevated to the proper hight, in order to draw them in upon the roof. But just as he took the rope in his hand it parted above his head and the weight of the shingles attached caused him to be dragged off, falling to the ground, a distance of about twenty feet. He was knocked completely senseless. One rib was broken and he was badly bruised about the body. He was also injured internally, but to what extent, it is not known. He was carried to his home at No. 40 Taylor avenue, where he was waited upon by Dr. Boggs.

ACCIDENT ON SPRING HILL.

A Runaway—Man Badly Injured.

A young man named Schaub, was badly injured on Spring Hill, Allegheny, about four o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. It seems that he was driving a wagon heavily loaded with stone into the city, and before starting down the hill forgot to lock the wheels of his wagon. In consequence, the horses were unable to hold the wagon, which ran against them and started them to running. The farther they went the more their speed was increased, and finally the wagon striking some obstruction, young Schaub was jolted off, the two wheels on one side of the wagon passing over his left arm and left leg, fracturing them in a frightful manner. The injured man was picked up and carried to his residence on O'Hara street, and a physician summoned, who dressed his wound. At last accounts he was doing well.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

A Train on the Connellsville R. R. Jumps the Track—Four Men Badly Injured—Narrow Escapes from Death.

A frightful accident, and one that it seems almost miraculous, did not terminate far more disastrously, occurred on the Connellsville Railroad yesterday. About, or a little after 10 o'clock yesterday morning the Baltimore Express, then an hour behind time, was running at its top-most speed. At a point about a mile this side of Confluence the engine jumped the track, owing, it is thought, to a spreading of the rails. Just at this place there is a bridge over a little stream, and while the engine got safely over the bridge, running on the ties, the tender was thrown over, breaking the bridge down and dragging after it the fruit car, which was next the engine, and the baggage and mail car. The fireman jumped off the engine as soon as it left the track and was knocked insensible; the engineer, however, stuck to his post and was unhurt. He whistled "down brakes," and the brakesman of the baggage car, John Donaldson, a resident of Birmingham, rushed on the platform to apply the brakes just as it went over. He was terribly injured about the head and back, also, it is feared internally. The mail agent, Capt. Linn, was thrown out of the door of the car against the fruit car. The baggage car in falling was thrown against the fruit car also, and only the truck of the fruit car saved Mr. Linn from being crushed to death. As it was he was sprained in the shoulder, leg, back and arm. His arm was also badly lacerated. The baggage master, Mr. Harrington escaped with a sprained shoulder and a few slight bruises. The fireman recovered in a short time so as to be able to walk, but the brakeman, who was taken back to Confluence where he received medical aid, was at last accounts in an insensible condition. His injuries are undoubtedly of a very serious nature.

The train was detained some eight or nine hours until the wreck could be cleared away and the bridge repaired temporarily.

NOTES FROM OUR NEIGHBORS.

The annual Convention of the Y. M. C. A. of Pennsylvania, meets in Erie on the 12th of September.

The Washington county corn-fields promise an abundant crop—the best that has been produced for many years.

We learn that a large tannery is being erected in Howe township, Forest county. It will employ two hundred men or more.

The County Commissioners are about to build an iron bridge over the Shenango at Jamestown, of one hundred feet span, double track.

At Wheatland a few days ago a shoemaker took a dose of oxalic acid in mistake for epsom salts. His life was saved by a timely and vigorous application of the stomach pump.

A thief in Forest county lately waited in the bedroom of a clerk until he had gone to sleep, took the store key from his pocket, unlocked the house door, the store door, the safe door, took five hundred dollars, relocked everything, and made himself "scarce," leaving the keys sticking in all the doors.

After pumping some three barrels of first-rate lubricating oil, the directors of the Middlesex oil well concluded to remove the tubing and drill the well deeper. The drilling will not stop short of 1,000 or 1,200 feet unless oil in paying quantities is discovered before going so deep.

On last Sunday night, a block of buildings in Youngstown, known as the Burnett row, was burned. It was occupied by eight families. The bodies of three children of John Williams were found in the ruins burned to a black crisp. The other occupants all escaped. The fire is said to have originated from the upsetting of a coal oil lamp.

A man by the name of Richards shot his wife through the head with a gun at Sheffield, on Friday last, and then shot himself. The attempt at suicide was a success, but the woman will probably recover. The parties formerly resided in Corry, but had separated on account of the alleged cruelty of the husband. He is supposed to have be been insane.

The annual reunion of the Eighty-Third Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers will be held in Meadville on Tuesday, September 12th. The several committees appointed to make the necessary arrangements are actively at work, and the indications point to a larger attendance and even more enjoyable than last year. The members of the 44th N. Y. Volunteers, with which the 83d was brigaded, have been invited to participate in the reunion, and it is hoped many of them will be present.

The Ladies' Delight.

There is, perhaps, no piece of household furniture that the ladies take more delight in than the Sewing Machine. This wonderful invention has caused the heart of many a poor, overburdened woman to rejoice with exceeding great joy. The possession of a Machine has caused many a poor, wornout woman to renew her youth; has brought back the bloom to her pale cheeks, and caused the blood to course anew through her veins—in fact, has given her new life, energy and hope. And yet to-day, how many are working hard with the needle over midnight lamps—toiling from early light to earn a precarious substance. Who might be the happy possessor of a sewing machine, if they would only make use of the opportunities offered them. They can buy a good machine for forty-five dollars; they can have plenty of time to make the payments in, and in three or four hours they can do as much sewing on it as they could by the needle in twenty-four hours, and also, do it a good deal better. We therefore say to you who have no machine, wait no longer; spend no more time working when you should be sleeping, but go and buy a Sewing Machine at once, and you will do more and better work, and have plenty of time for recreation besides. And we would advise you to call at No. 14 Sixth (late St. Clair) street, and examine the Wilson. It is as good, if not better, than the ones they are asking sixty-five dollars for at other stores, and they are fully warranted to keep in good order for five years, and they are also sold on the plan of monthly payments. Remember the place, No. 14 Sixth street. Messrs. Smith & Forrester, general agents.

Amusements.

Fifth Avenue Opera House—A large audience greeted the excellent company last evening, who appeared in "Dot," eliciting frequent demonstrations of intense delight. On the whole, Beamer's new company may be regarded as the best that has appeared in the city since the days of Hess. For this evening an excellent bill is offered, consisting of "The Honeymoon" and "Sarah's Young Man."

New Opera House—This elegant temple will open Saturday evening with a first class company. Chanfrau, the inimitable, will appear.

New lot of German Canary Birds, just received at John R. & A. Murdoch's, 112 Smithfield street.

AN AGED CRIMINAL.

Lavinia Labree, the Woman Forger—Arrested at Last, and Now in Jail.

About two months ago, as many of our readers will remember, an information was made before Commissioner McCandless, of this city, against Lavinia Labree, of Luzerne county, charging her with endeavoring to obtain a pension by fraudulent means. The crime of Lavinia consisted in forging names to affidavits, to pension papers, and in one instance forging a marriage certificate, all of which was done for the purpose of obtaining a pension, to which she claimed to be entitled by reason of the death of her son in the army. The papers were all sent to Washington and there an investigation took place, when the forgeries were discovered. A warrant was immediately issued and the United States detectives set to work, but Lavinia managed to escape until within a few days ago, when she was captured near Erie, Pa. Yesterday the United States Marshal brought her to this city, where she found quarters with Warden Scandrett at the county jail.

Lavinia is about seventy years of age, but has the appearance of one younger than that. She has little to say, but when she does talk endeavors to excite sympathy for a "poor, abused woman" by relating imaginary stories of the ill-treatment to which she has been subjected. The case comes up at the next term of the United States Court, and if but a part of what is alleged against her be proven, she will fare ill.

EDUCATIONAL.

Proceedings in the Convention.

St. Louis, August 23.—In continuation of the proceedings of the Educational Convention yesterday, President Pinkard introduced Mr. Tappan, who, in the absence of Prof. Elliott, of Harvard College, spoke in behalf of the department of higher education. After a few general remarks he turned to Governor Brown, who was on the stand, and said that no part of the human being is forgotten in our scheme of education—is forgotten above all we know—and feel as the maxim of our work that moral education is the most important thing of all. Not only do we recognize its importance, but we discuss the methods to carry it out; we recognize that the education of every child in the land should be based upon the love of his fellow being.

A few remarks were then made by A. C. Shortridge, Vice President of the Elementary Section, who was followed by S. H. White, President of the Normal Section, who considered it eminently proper that this Convention should be held in Missouri, in the State which has within a few years established such a comprehensive system of common school education, and which has inaugurated such an extensive system of Normal Schools, and but the other day laid the corner-stone of one of the most elegant buildings of the kind in the country, and especially proper did he regard it that the Convention should be held in St. Louis, a city known throughout the country for its comprehensive and thorough system of public instruction, and which contains one of the most celebrated Normal Schools in the country, which also has recognized the practicability that advanced an idea which is beginning to prevail in the educational world—the equality of woman with man as an educator.

W. D. Henkle, President of the Superintendents' Section, stated that the Hon. Mr Garfield, of Ohio, who was to speak on the subject of the Relations of the General Government to Education, had been unexpectedly called to Washington on an errand of mercy, and could not be present. The general session then adjourned, and the various sections met in different rooms and transacted the business before them.

In the Department of Higher Education, H. K. Edson, of Iowa, read an essay on Classical Study and the means of securing it in the West, in which he took strong grounds in favor of classical study. No means of discipline has yet been discovered so effective and thorough. Referring to the means to secure attention in this direction, he said, considering the divisions of education into the three departments — primary, secondary and higher—we find a deficiency in the supply of institutions of the second grade, especially in the West. The State makes ample provision for the first class. For the third class the State provides only in exceptional" cases, through the Normal School. The State prepares the teacher for his work in the primary school. The want of similar facilities for the training of the classical teachers for our preparatory schools has been a serious hindrance to the prosperity of our colleges. To supply these important facilities and to establish schools that shall in the rural districts enlist the youth and initiate them in a course of classical study, we consider that the immediate and pressing want of the time is that direct efforts should be made in favorable localities for the establishment of independent training schools for classical teachers, or to form departments in existing schools sufficiently ample to fit the youth for college, and the clamor against the study of the languages would cease.

The Educational Convention met in sections this morning in the department of higher education. F. H. Sanford, of Illinois, read a paper on Modern Mathematics in the College Course, which was followed by a pretty general discussion.

S. H. Tyler, of Knox College, read an essay on Pronunciation of Greek and Latin, which also elicited considerable debate.

In the elementary section Henry C. Harding, of Massachusets spoke on Methods of Teaching, after which a conversational discussion between the speaker and audience took place. Specimens of drawing by the lecturers of the class were exhibited, being the work of pupils from five to sixteen years old. J. W. Armstrong, of New York, read an essay on Philosophy of Methods, which was afterwards discussed by several delegates.

A Committee of five in this section was then appointed to nominate new officers.

The following is the thesis of Professor Stafford's essay: First, our college course of mathematics must contain in the future more synthetic geometry and less algebra and higher analysis; more practical and less abstract males. Second—Time must be gained by begining at geometry in an elementary way before the preparatory college course. Third—Geometry and arithmatic, both subjects taken in their broadest sense must go hand in hand throughout the course, must continually support each other, retaining its individuality. What we now call analytical geometry must be introduced in various stages with geometry proper. Fourth, the text books must diminish in size, supplemented by oral teaching. Both teachers and pupils must learn better how to work at the subjects, not at the books merely. Fifth — The interests of educational sciences of mathematics and practical utility alike demand these changes. The essay engaged the closest attention, and was warmly appplauded at its close.

In Normal section, a paper on normal schools, prepared by J. D. Philbrick, of Massachusetts, was read by S. H. White. It said normal institutions will pay, but the supply of teachers is short of the actual needs. It is the right and duty of a State to provide means of special instructions to teachers of all schools They must and will secure a normal graduate for each school. He stated several plans to accomplish this, all of which had failed, and proposed the following: Provide different grades of normal schools. Teachers in different grades obviously need different kinds of instruction. Let the term be three months: let the instructor be proficient, and above all let the above mode of adjusting a school be inculcated. Three months' attention is better than no instruction. As an inducement to attendance the State should make it to the interest of the teacher to seek pay from the public treasury, and a premium to the teachers and such towns as employ them. Let the teacher be exempted from the examination, the certificate of attendance acting as evidence of his capacity. When the first school is filled let a second be establihaed, and so on. Four elementary normal schools are sufficient. Let there be no rigid cast iron system of normal institution, the schools, of course, to be subject to such notifications as may be deemed necessary. The time of attendance can be gradually extended and the present grades increased with the demand for higher grade of teachers.

Mr. Philbeck submitted this as an out line in rough. He also stated that the problem is the same in all the States. High grades are too expensive to meet the wants of all schools. County Normal Schools are of vast benefit, and in this direction Illinois had taken an important step. Teaching is only a temporary occupation in this country, and normal schools must give the instructions that permanency should supply. They should not become mere high schools. Their function is not to develop literary and scientific excellence, but practicability to those who are supposed already to have culture. This paper was elaborately discussed by several delegates, the whole subject of normal schools being thoroughly sifted and various modifications being suggested. The following resolution offered by Mr. Philps, was adopted:

Resolved, That the President appoint a committee to report at the next meeting on a plan of normal training schools to meet the wants of the community.

A very lengthy discussion occurred on the question of compulsory education. A majority of the delegates who participated in the debate recognized the right of the State to compel attendance at school, but deemed the question one of expediency.

The committee on nominations reported the following officers for the Association, for the ensuing year, who were subsequently elected: President: E. C. White, of Ohio; Vice Presidents: W. F. Phelps of Minnesota; W. T. Harris, of Missouri; J. H. Jurey of Mississippi; J. M. McKerzu of Nebraska; C. Varden of Massachussetts; J. M. Buckley of New York; Newton Bateman, of Illinois W. D. WEST VIRGINIA.

The Clarksburg Annual Fair is advertised for September 19, 20 and 21.

Thomas Malone, of Smithstown, confined in the Morgantown jail as a lunatic, hung himself to death with a sheet last week.

The corner stone of the West Virginia Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind, was laid last week, at Romney, with Masonic ceremony.

Rev. John W. Scott, former President of Washington College, has been elected Professor of ancient languages and literature in the West Virginia University, and Professor A. H. Farwell has been chosen to fill the chairs of History and Belles' Letters in the same institution.

Last Wednesday, while the show of J. T. Johnson was giving an exhibition in Guyandotte, a son of George Black having been put in the lock-up for disorderly conduct, Bob Smith, John Riley and Black's father repaired to the lock-up for the purpose of effecting his release. When they had reached the place, they met a policeman of Guyandotte, Mr. Theo. Webb, upon whom they made an attack. Webb was prepared for them, having been directed by the Mayor to watch the lock-up, as it had eight inmates, and threats had been made to break it open for their release. In the melee Webb knocked down Riley, and then Smith with his club, when the calls of his wife brought assistance. Black escaped unhurt; but Smith being knocked insensible, was carried to the Thompson House, where he remained in that condition all night, although receiving every attention from Dr. Hysell and others. In the morning he was carried to the ferry and, from there, home, on Bent's creek, Lawrence county, Ohio, where he died at 11 o'clock on Thursday night. The above facts were taken from the statement of an eye witness and we presume, are in the main correct.—Cable Co. Press.

A GREYPORT LEGEND.

BY BRET HARTE.

They ran through the streets of the seaport town,
They peered from the decks of the ships where they lay,
The cold sea fog that came whitening down
Was never as cold or white as they.
"Ho, Starbuck and Pinckney and Tenterden!
Run for your shallops, gather your men,
Scatter your boats on the lower bay."

Good cause for fear! In the thick midday
The hulk that lay by the rotting pier,
Filled with the children in happy play,
Parted its moorings and drifted clear.
Drifted clear, beyond reach or call—
Thirteen children there were in all,—
All adrift in the lower bay!

Said a hard-faced skipper, "God help us all!
She will not float till the turning tide!"
Said his wife, "My darling will hear my call,
Whether in sea or Heaven she bide."
And she lifted a quavering voice and high,
Wild and strange as a sea-bird's cry,
Till they shuddered and wondered at her side.

The fog drove down on each laboring crew,
Veiled each from each and the sky and the shore,
There was not a sound but the breath they drew,
And the lap of water and creak of oar;
And they felt the breath of the downs, fresh blown
O'er leagues of clover and cold gray stone,
But not from the lips that had gone before.

They come no more. But they tell the tale
That, when fogs are thick on the harbor reef,
The mackerel fishers shorten sail,
For the signal they know will bring relief—
For the voices of children still at play
In a phantom hulk that drifts alway
Through channels whose waters never fail.

It is but a foolish shipman's tale,
A theme for a poet's idle page,
But still when the mists of doubt prevail,
And we lie becalmed by the shores of Age,
We hear from the misty troubled shore
The voice of the children gone before,
Drawing the soul to its anchorage.

The Schleswig Holstein Canal.

A great deal has lately been written about the proposed canal between the North Sea and the Baltic, and both the expense and the importance of the natural obstacles in the way of the realization of the project have, according to the North German Correspondent, been greatly exaggerated. The only elevation which would render a deep cutting or a lock necessary is from two and one eighth to three and a quarter German miles in breadth, and not more than sixty-seven and a half feet in height, and this can hardly be called a difficulty, as the soil is easily worked. The first estimate, 28,192,000 thalers, may have been too low, and it is known that the Prussian Minister of Commerce from the first contemplated the necessity of employing a much larger sum, but, all things considered, it is highly improbable that six millions more will be required. The breadth of the canal at the surface of the water is to be 226 feet, and at the bottom 76 feet; its depth, 31 feet. This wonld afford ample space for four vessels to pass each other, two of which might be large men-of-war. The length of the longest proposed line is fourteen German miles, and that of the shortest eleven and three-quarters German miles. The choice of the line to be adopted is the most difficult question that still remains unsettled, as every district in the Elbe Duchies wishes a share in the immediate benefits of the undertakng.

At Bristol, England, the other day, a respectably dressed woman, who was in great mental distress, was arrested as "disorderly." Before the magistrate she stated that she had been sold by her husband to another man for £50. The husband admitted receiving the money and seemed annoyed that the woman did not acquiesce in the bargain. All the parties were discharged.
